Agnew Attacks Justice Officials

BY JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has accused Justice Department officials of subjecting him to a campaign of smear publicity and trial by headline in "a clear and outrageous effort" to influence a federal grand jury investigating him.

But the Justice Department said there is no evidence to support Agnew's claim.

Referring to reports he said he believed were leaked to the news media, Agnew declared Tuesday that he had to assume "that some Justice Department officials have decided to indict me in the press whether or not the evidence supports their position."

Responding to Agnew's charges, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson said the Justice Department was concerned with unfair and inaccurate publicity about the grand jury in Baltimore which is investigating allegations of kickbacks and political corruption in Maryland.

But, in his statement, Richardson said there is no evidence thus far to implicate law enforcement officials in the news leaks. He said an investigation into the leaks is continuing.

In Baltimore, U.S. Atty. George Beall, reiterated a statement made earlier this month that neither he nor any of the other prosecutors in the case were the sources of news leaks.

Beall is heading the grand jury probe.

"I regret to say that it has become clear that the 'sources close to the investigation' so frequently quoted were indeed just that—persons involved in the investigatory process," Agnew said.

Facing newsmen for the second time in two weeks, Agnew read a prepared eight-minute statement in which he said that he had called on Richardson to vigorously pursue the hunt for Justice Department leaks and plug them.

"It is through proper investigation of all the facts that the truth will emerge—not through trial by headline or by hearing only part of the story," Agnew said. "I am confident that the orderly processes of justice will result in my complete vindication."

Agnew was notified in a letter from Beall Aug. 2 that he was under investigation by the grand jury for possible criminal violation of tax, bribery, extortion and conspiracy laws in connection with allegations that Maryland contractors paid kickbacks to politicians in return for favored treatment in the awarding of jobs.

In a statement Aug. 6 and again at a news conference Aug. 8, Agnew proclaimed his innocence of all allegations against him.

Despite Agnew's protestations reliable sources speaking prior to Agnew's appearance Tuesday characterized the evidence against him as massive.

The sources told The Associated Press that Agnew never would have been notified he was under investigation if the evidence hadn't been "damned solid."

"It should be obvious that the letter wouldn't have been sent to Agnew if there wasn't sufficient evidence for an indictment in the view of the investigators," one source said.

Another source agreed, saying that the case was tight.

"An action of this sort is not taken lightly," he said. "It has to be a damned solid and serious case for it to proceed this far."

Those comments paralleled a news report Agnew cited in his statement as evidence that news leaks were coming from sources actually involved in the Baltimore investigation.

But Richardson said so far as he can tell, it isn't so.

"I fully share the vice president's concern about unfair and inaccurate publicity," he said. "I stand by my previous statements that every reasonable step is being taken to assure that the Justice Department has not been and will not be the source of such publicity ...."

Richardson said if the department gets any plausible lead implicating its own officials, the lead will be pursued and any guilty employe will be subject to "appropriate disciplinary action."

Later, a spokesman for Richardson said that the Justice investigation of the leaks consists of informal contacts with officials warning them to guard against leaks. There is no formal probe, the spokesman, John W. Hushen, said.

Both Richardson and Agnew called on members of the news media to exercise restraint and help plug leaks. And Agnew hinted that he believes newsmen should be compelled to disclose their sources.

"I hope that the national news media will also urge Mr. Richardson and the Justice Department to conduct such an investigation (for news leaks) diligently, wherever it may lead, and to use all available investigatory tools to compel sworn testimony to reveal the identity of "unnamed Justice Department officials" and "sources close to the investigation."

Despite his distress with the news stories, Agnew said he did not blame the news media for printing them.

"I cannot fault you for publishing information given you by informants within the Department of Justice," he said. "The blame must rest with those who give this information to the press."

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren again told newsmen that President Nixon had confidence in Agnew. Warren said Nixon deplored the news leaks as "alien to our due process."

Unlike his news conference of Aug. 8, Agnew declined Tuesday to take any questions from newsmen, despite the fact that the vice president's appearance had been described by his office as a news conference.

Council Hears Fund Transfers, Development Plan

City Council passed four financial ordinances and read a letter of approval from the zoning and planning committee for a "planned unit development" on the city's northeast side at Tuesday's meeting.

The Circle G Corporation plans for a "planned unit development" were approved by the zoning and planning committee with a letter to city council recommending Oct. 2 to be set as the date for the public hearing.

The development, under strict requirements for unified planning for the entire 36 acre tract, will contain single family homes, condominiums and apartments. The offices of the Circle G Corporation will also be built in the development.

Council approved the transfer of $250 from the unappropriated money of the general fund to the municipal court furniture and fixture fund.

A sum of $20,000 was transferred from the unappropriated motor vehicle tax fund to the major street repair account.

Council also approved the transfer of $5,000 from the unappropriated money of the capital improvement fund to the building maintenance account and $460 from the unappropriated money of the general fund to the municipal court employe-blanket bond.

Public utilities director, Charles Taylor, said opening bids for the sewage plant were scheduled for noon Thursday and that anyone is welcome to attend the meeting.

Members attending the brief meeting were Joseph Bell, Bob Shadley, Keith Wagner, Harold Hoffman, Robert Kenworthy, David Goldschmidt, David Crawford, Ben Gordon and Gladden Troutman.

Shoppers Buy Poultry, Pork

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Shoppers looking for bargains headed for the pork and poultry counters today, after receiving mixed advice about the future of the family food bill.

Decreases in the price of pork chops, chicken and eggs were reported in many areas of the country, but some food industry spokesmen said the decline was only temporary.

At the same time, the price of wheat for future delivery rose to record levels on Tuesday, reflecting increased worldwide demand. Some farmers were holding on to their wheat in the belief that the price would go even higher.

Daniel Goodrich, assistant meat manager at a Grand Union supermarket in Albany, N.Y., summed up the situation:

"You'll see a lot of poultry and pork specials during the next two weeks," he said. "That will create a demand and the prices will go back up."

Food prices have been rising since they were partially freed from controls on July 18. Only the price of beef remains under a ceiling.

New York City filed a suit in U.S. District Court on Tuesday against Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, claiming he has violated the law by refusing to act on the beef shortage that has developed because of the continuing freeze.

The city claimed that Butz could alleviate the situation by taking action under the recently passed farm bill which allows him to certify that a shortage exists and advise the President on possible solutions.

The city asked that Butz be compelled to certify that there is a shortage and to suggest means of ending it. A hearing was set for Friday.

Scattered price decreases turned up around the country.

Albany (N.Y.) Public Markets was offering chicken Tuesday at 69 cents a pound, down from 94 to 99 cents, while pork loin cuts cost $1.27, a decrease from $1.45.

Egg prices in Pennsylvania supermarkets dropped by as much as 7 cents a dozen in the last week; chicken prices were 35 cents a pound lower; and pork chops declined 11 cents a pound.

The Labor Department said Tuesday that the Consumer Price Index went up two-tenths of one per cent in July, the lowest increase in six months. Food prices, however, went up eight-tenths of one per cent in July, more than had been expected.

Wholesale pork and poultry prices have been declining in recent days because of consumer resistance. Corns and soybeans sold for future delivery also dropped in price on Tuesday and analysts said the decrease was due to the belief that prices have gone as high as they're going to go.

Wheat prices, however, soared, raising the prospect of additional increases in the price of bread and pasta. Wheat sold now for delivery in September closed at over $5 a bushel at two Midwest markets, up almost $2 a bushel in the past month.

Fear More Violence In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Residents of Chile's strike-plagued capital braced for more violence today between opponents and supporters of their leftist government.

Winter school vacations, scheduled to end today, were extended indefinitely after a five-hour battle Tuesday between thousands of foes and supporters of Marxist President Salvador Allende.

Officials said 13 persons were hospitalized, five with bullet wounds and eight from other injuries. Two were reported in critical condition. But there was no confirmation that two persons were killed by snipers firing from the roofs of office buildings around the supreme court building.

Water cannon trucks and riot police using shields struggled through the afternoon to disperse mobs of jeering youths that formed at intersections throughout the heart of the city. They set several cars afire and burned heaps of garbage in the streets.

As the rioting tapered off at dusk, more than 2,000 progovernment women and youths massed in front of the presidential palace, shouting "Power to the people!" and "We will fight! We will win!"

Allende appeared on a second-floor balcony and told the cheering crowd: "We will defend Chile from the fascists and those who want a civil war."

Meanwhile, several hundred antigovernment women stoned the home of Gen. Carlos Prats, the army commander-in-chief and defense minister. Police drove them off with tear gas, and two women were treated at a military hospital for minor injuries.

Viet Cong Attack Ranger Position

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong attack on a government ranger position touched off the biggest battle in South Vietnam's central highlands since the January cease-fire, the Saigon command reports.

The Saigon command said today that 89 Viet Cong and 17 rangers were killed Tuesday in 7½ hours of fighting and 22 rangers were wounded.

The government position was about seven miles northeast of the Ly Thai Loi base camp in Pleiku province, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

A government spokesman, Lt. Col Le Trung Hien, said the Viet Cong first shelled the post, then hit it with a "mass" ground assault. He said the 400 rangers had artillery support but no air cover.

Hien could give no estimate of the size of the Viet Cong force, but he contended that the attack provided new evidence that Communist forces are infiltrating south from Kontum province to Pleiku.

The command also reported Viet Cong attacks west and northwest of Kontum and claimed 20 Communist troops were killed. The government said it had only one casualty, an infantryman wounded.

The Saigon command claimed the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese made 76 attacks in violation of the ceasefire during the past 24 hours.

In Cambodia, Phnom Penh had another quiet night but continued skirmishing was reported in Prek Pao and Set Bo, on Highway 30 about nine miles southeast of the capital city. A communique said government forces were continuing offensive operations to block enemy infiltration in the area.

A senior U.S. official in Phnom Penh predicted that the insurgents would launch an attack on the Cambodian capital "in the coming weeks and certainly in the coming months."

But Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state, told foreign newsmen in Peking that the Communist-led Khmer Rouge would not attack the capital until the dry season, "some time between next December and May of next year."

The U.S. ambassador to Cambodia, Emory C. Swank, signed an agreement in Phnom Penh today to help rebuild the hospital in the naval base town of Neak Luong, which American B52 bombers devastated by mistake on Aug. 6.

Swank said the United States will provide $400,000 for the rebuilding of the hospital and $700,000 worth of equipment. He said his government will also pay compensation to relatives of those killed in the bombing. The last official casualty count was 137 killed and 280 wounded, and the American payments are expected to total between $65,000 and $90,000.

Phase 4 Rules On Food Readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council planned today to release its new Phase 4 regulations for controlling food prices, which spiralled last month despite the government's price freeze.

The latest Consumer Price Index showed that food prices increased eight-tenths of one per cent in July, in defiance of the 60-day price freeze intended to keep the lid on costs.

To a shopper, the July increase meant spending less than one cent per dollar more on groceries, but food prices for the last six months still were increasing at an annual rate of 17.8 per cent, a government official said.

The July figure compared with a 1.4 per cent increase in June.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Tuesday the July food-price increase "has not yet been fully explained."

The Cost of Living Council offered several possible explanations, and a spokesman said, "We're looking into it."

At the Labor Department, where the price index is prepared, a spokesman suggested there might have been widespread violations of the price freeze imposed June 13. "How much it might reflect violations of the freeze, we have no way of knowing," he said.

Stein also noted there have been substantial new food price increases since the price freeze was lifted Juy 18.

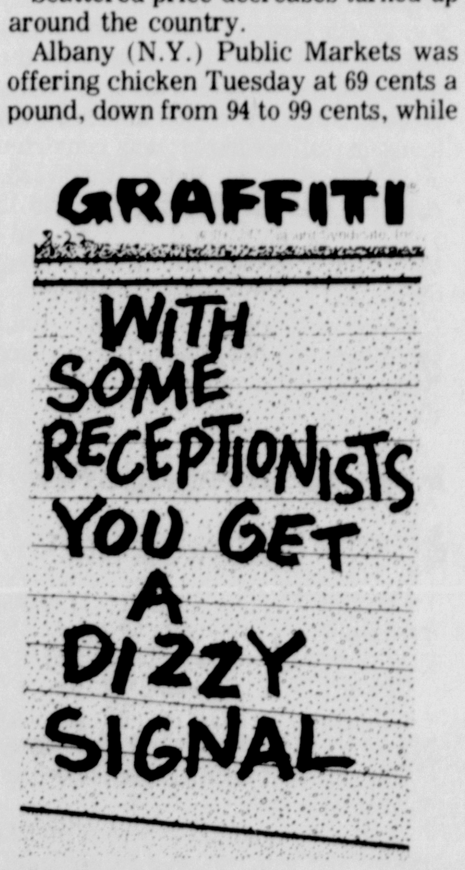
The freeze had an over-all effect on the economy, holding total consumer price increases for July to two-tenths of one per cent, down from an average monthly increase of sixtenths of one per cent during the first six months of the year, the index shows.

Non-food commodities, led by clothing, actually showed a decline in July of two-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally unadjusted basis.

The rate of inflation for the six-month period ending in July was listed as 7.4 per cent.

The new food industry regulations being released today will replace the temporary Phase 4 regulations that took effect when the price freeze was listed from food on July 18.

A main difference is that the new regulations—to go into effect about Sept. 12—will allow food firms to include in their prices all justified cost increases.



China Meet Held With Eye On Soviet Union

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

China's Communist leaders have just held some sort of important meeting in Peking, and whatever was on the agenda it's a good bet that fear and suspicion of the Soviet Union is inspiring the regime to get its political house in order.

With Moscow pouring on the heat, Peking probably considers it no longer advisable to continue—as it has for two years—without a defense minister, with gaping holes in upper levels of the military establishment, with gaps in the upper party strata and without fixed guidelines for the succession to aged Mao Tse-tung.

All this year the Russians have been carrying on a propaganda campaign against the pragmatists under Premier Chou En-lai, who have been running China. While the Chinese have been answering back, their retorts have seemed less violent than the attacks.

Even while the big meeting was in session in Peking last week, Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet party chief, went out of his way to make serious charges against the Peking regime.

He accused it of a policy "founded on fanatical anti-Sovietism and subversive activity against the socialist countries," and, in fact, of interfering in those countries' affairs.

This was the same Moscow regime which laid down the doctrine that it had a right to intervene with force in any situation where "socialism" was endangered.

The Chinese illustrated on Tuesday how aware they are of the possibilities in that attitude. On the fifth anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, China's United Nations mission circulated a paper entitled, "The longer the occupation, the tighter the noose."

It said Moscow had increased its occupation troops in Czechoslovakia and was still ruthlessly suppressing the Czechoslovak people. Peking has made no secret of its fear that Moscow might try one day to apply that doctrine to China, perhaps with a "surgical" strike against China's developing nuclear weapons system.

Meanwhile, there's a lot of patching to be done. The purges following the downfall of Lin Piao, once successor to Mao Tse-tung, left not only the defense ministry vacant, but also top army and navy posts and key aviation and logistics ones. In the ruling party Politburo, only 13 members remain of the 21 named in 1969, and only half a dozen are really active. The Politburo's inner circle "standing committee" of five now has only three—Mao, Chou and Kang Sheng. Mao, nearing 80, is receding more and more to the background and Kang, 73, has been ailing. That leaves the 75-year-old Chou practically alone in the exercise of political power.

If the party now is preparing to fill the gaps and perhaps ready the National People's Congress that was derailed by the Lin purge, it can be taken as an indication that Chou's people have carried the day against their critics and achieved some political stability. They may now want to move fast, if only because of the Soviet attitude.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lost more ground today as Wall Street continued its obsession with the political problems of the Nixon administration.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed at its lowest point in 20 months Tuesday after skidding almost 10 points, was down 3.76 points more to 854.08 at noon today.

Declines outpaced advances by more than 2 to 1 in very light trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The broadbased NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks was down 0.17 to 53.50.

On the American Stock Exchange, losers held a broad edge over gainers, and the price-change index was down .04 to 22.76.

British Petroleum, the Big Board volume leader, was ahead ⅝ to 14. But other oils were mostly lower. Texaco was down ⅛ to 28½, Exxon was off ¼ to 88¾, and Standard Oil of Indiana was off ¼ to 76⅝.

General Motors recovered a bit from a new 1973 low reached Tuesday and added ½ to 61.

The opening of Polaroid, which reportedly received a lower earnings estimate from an analyst who had been bullish on the stock, was delayed because of an order influx.

Sheriff Tells Cattlemen To Be 'Nosy Neighbors'

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff Tuesday advised members of the Pickaway County Cattleman's Assn. to be "nosy neighbors" to help curb livestock rustling.

Radcliff was one of two speakers at the association's Summer Roundup held at Robert Huffer's farm east of Circleville. The other was Dr. Herb Hadley, Ohio State University economist, who discussed possible future developments in the agricultural economy.

The sheriff said that rustling in Pickaway County has been at a minimum so far. Six head of cattle have been stolen from a Saltcreek Twp. farm and one from a Monroe Twp. farm, he stated.

"Mark your cattle so they can be identified," he strongly urged the cattlemen. "Count your livestock daily and immediately report any missing to the sheriff's departemnt."

He advised them to watch their neighbors' fields for any suspicous activity and to report any strange and suspicous vehicles in the area.

Sheriff Radcliff criticized the recent developments in the courts which protect the criminal rather than the property owner. "We can arrest a criminal today and tomorrow he will be right back on the streets," Radcliff stated.

Dr. Hadley advised cattlemen that most economists anticipate prices will be up substantially by late 1973 and will moderate slightly in 1974.

The OSU economist foresees a strong domestic and foreign demand for agricultural products. He predicted that fed cattle market will rise sharply after the freeze is taken off but will adjust downward. Heavy runs, unfinished or overfinished cattle could have an effect on the daily and local markets.

He said that consumers will continue to eat meat, but they may be more careful in their buying habits. "Last spring the consumer was upset over high prices," he said referring to the meat boycott. "But now they are also concerned about the supply."

Predicting that feeder cattle will cost anywhere from 55 cents to 85 cents a pound he said that the future market for August, 1974 is 57 to 58 cents a pound.

"If you pay 63 cents for feeder cattle and if corn is worth $2.70 a bushel this winter, you will have to get 58 to 59 cents a pound to break even next summer," he said.

Calves that are bought for 75 cents a pound must bring 57 cents as finished cattle to break even.

He emplasized that management will play an important part in the profit picture.

Other persons on the program at the Roundup were Harold Riffel, president of the county association; Dale Bower, a state director; George Hamrick, County agricultural extension agent.

One hundred and fifty four pounds of quality beef were pit barbecued for the supper.

Terror Bombers Strike In Britain

LONDON (AP) — Terrorist bombers struck in Britain today for the fourth day as Scotland Yard looked for them among Irish residents of England.

Two unexploded devices, an incendiary and a booby-trapped book, were found in London.

Six suspected letter bombs were discovered in a mail sorting office in Luton, 30 miles north of London. Police said five had fictitious addresses. Sorters became suspicious because the white envelopes, all addressed in the same handwriting, were heavier than usual. Explosive experts were called in.

A bomb squad defused the cigarette-pack incendiary planted among rolls of cloth in Dickins and Jones, a leading department store in London's bustling West End. It was the 15th fire bomb discovered in a London department store since Saturday and the second for Dickins and Jones.

Scotland Yard declined to comment.

Special precautions were being taken at mail sorting offices to intercept suspicious packages.

Seven letter bombs—all built into paperback books on music—were delivered Tuesday to government offices and military organizations. Another 10 incendiary devices were discovered in five central London stores, bringing to 14 the number found in department stores since Saturday.

Scotland Yard believes the devices are the work of a group of Irish nationalists who have broken away from the Irish Republican Army or sympathizers with them. The Sun newspaper said police were looking for a blonde woman with a bag full of the incendiary devices which she slipped into the pockets of garments hanging in stores.

There have been no casualties yet, but Ernest Bond, Scotland Yard's deputy assistant commissioner, warned that the letter bombs found Tuesday were lethal—"Anyone receiving anything like this must not open it. If they do, it will blow them in half."

Ashville Family Attends UM Fellowship Of Musicians

William Pangburn and family of Ashville Village United Methodist Church are three of approximately 900 persons who attended the biennial convocation of the Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians August 5-11 on the campus of Florida Southern College.

The 1400-member Fellowship has as its primary purpose to "link the United Methodist musicians in fellowship for promoting the exchange of ideas, materials, and techniques."

Highlights of the week included an organ recital and a daily organ workshops led by Alex Wyton, organist and choir master of New York's Cathedral of St. John the Divine; daily workshop sessions led by Richard Avery and Donald Marsh, a well-team of composers and worship specialists from Port Jervis, N.Y.; and a music and architecture and walking tour of six buildings on the FSC campus designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright. The campus includes the largest collection of Wright architecture in the world.

Special music sessions for youth, sponsored by the Florida Conference of The United Methodist Church, were held in conjunction with the convocation. More than 200 youth participated under the direction of Phillip R. Dietterich, Westfield, N.J. Workshops for children and adults were held as well as special seminars on such topics as Soul Music, Music To Be Married By, Advent in August and Trends in Worship.

UAW Names Chrysler As Target

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Armed with a mandate to call a strike if necessary, United Auto Workers union negotiators today focused on the Chrysler Corp.—their newly named strike target.

"It was an obvious target," UAW President Leonard Woodcock said as he emerged Tuesday with the unanimous verdict of the union's 26-member International Executive Board.

Douglas Fraser, vice president for the UAW's Chrysler Department, said, "1973 is the year we have to solve the problems ... and unless we can solve them by Sept. 14, then we're going to strike the Chrysler Corp."

Contracts with General Motors and Ford also expire at midnight Sept. 14. However, a strike against Chrysler would shut down the No. 3 automaker while its competitors continued production at the height of the new car model year.

A contract settlement with the company chosen as the strike target generally sets the pattern for industry-wide contracts.

Foremost in the UAW's bargaining demands is voluntary overtime, which Fraser specifically cited as an issue which must be resolved.

A Chrysler official in Detroit said the firm also was confident a contract could be negotiated without a strike.

Food, Clothing Household Goods Taken By Thieves

Sheriff's Deputy Billy Huffman investigated two reports of grand larceny in the county Tuesday.

Wilma M. Mogan, Route 1, Mt. Sterling reported that thieves took some household goods from her home sometime between 9 a.m. Monday and 5:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Ms. Mogan reported that she had left her home in the time reported and returned finding thieves had entered by opening a window in the rear of the house.

Thieves used the back door to leave the residence.

Value of the goods was estimated at $281.

Franklin E. Hedges, Route 1, Clarksburg, reported someone took food and clothing from his home sometime between 3:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Hedges returned home to find his back door open. Thieves removed a screen from a rear window to gain entrance and left through the back door.

Estimated value of the stolen food and clothing was $63.

Ohrt Sentenced In Ashville Burglary

Kenneth Ohrt, 19, appearing in common pleas court Wednesday morning to face charges of burglary and grand larceny, was found guilty and released under probation with the Adult Parole Authority for five years.

Ohrt, formerly of Lockbourne now living in Gallia County, was convicted of the burglary of Bob's Hardware, Ashville, but his sentences of 1 to 15 years for breaking and entering and 1 to 7 years for grand larceny were suspended by Judge Guy Cline.

Cline ordered Ohrt to make restitution for the goods stolen, which were valued at over $950, within 90 days.

Deputy Investigates Single Car Accident

Sheriff's Deputy T. Peter Marshall investigated a single-car accident 9:45 p.m. Tuesday on State Route 361.

Clifford W. Downs Sr., 86, Route 6, Chillicothe, was driving north on Route 361 when his car went off the road.

The car went through a fence coming to rest in a field.

Downs complained of a neck and ear injury and was referred to his family doctor.

General Telephone Gets Legal Restraint On CWA Picketers

Claiming recent harrassment as the cause, General Telephone officials here have filed for an injunction restraining the picketing members of the Communication Workers of America.

The request for a restraining order was filed early today in the Common Pleas Court and a temporary injunction signed by Judge Guy Cline, acting common pleas judge in the absence of Judge William Ammer, ordering the strikers to observe the restrictions until the court hearing at 10 a.m. Aug. 31.

At this hearing, the court will determine whether a permanent injunction restricting the number of pickets and their actions will be authorized.

William Anderson, customer service manager for General Telephone, advised today that the company took their action following a disturbance Tuesday morning when a group of picketers attempted to prevent some employes from entering the main office at Court and Pinckney Sts. He also reported some damage had been done to that building yesterday.

The injunction requests the court limit the number of pickets at each entrance to two, restrict mass grouping at telephone company property by CWA members of their families, and place a restraint on harrassment of telephone company employes now at their jobs.

A Page Of Opinion

Self-Defeating

Many dealers throughout the country report low stocks of food freezers as a result of a run in the last two weeks on these appliances. They credit the surging demand to a widely held fear of shortages and price increases of meat.

Well, there is nothing like fear of a shortage to create a shortage or fear of price increases to send prices skyward. Scare buying can clean dealers' stocks faster than a snowball would melt in Haiti.

Not that scare buying was needed to boost prices or create shortages of meat and some other foods. Washington has been telegraphing price increases and shortages almost daily.

But a little figuring cannot fail to raise doubt that the head of a household who invests in a freezer, plus the cost of operation of same, and makes another heavy investment in food—thus helping to run prices up—will be ahead in the long run.

Before long, the stockpile will be getting low and prices hoarders helped to create will be in effect when they go to the supermarket to negotiate for a steak.

Who Understands Inflation?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Contrary to what most people seem to think, the biggest deception of the Nixon Administration has nothing to do with Watergate or the falsified bombing of Cambodia or troop incursions into Laos or any of the things that are now consuming the investigative energies of our delinquent Senators. The biggest deception is the one being foisted upon us by President Nixon's economic advisers, who don't believe that price fixing is a cure for inflation yet who go along with the Administration's Band-aid Type "phase" thinking about controls because they think the people demand it.

People undoubtedly do want price rollbacks. At least they have so informed the poll takers. But they also want more money to spend. So they ask for lower prices at the same time that they demand more and more credit and a continual flushing of the currency. An honest Council of Economic Advisers would explain the incompatibility of the two demands in a period in which productivity lags for a whole variety of reasons. Instead, Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz takes refuge in the theory that he is doing what is "politically" necessary and so does nothing to bring light and learning to a deluded multitude.

A young friend of mine, Joseph DeLapp, a student at George Roche's Hillsdale College in Michigan where they still teach that inflation is a phenomenon resulting from a government creation of money that is unrelated to productivity, expresses the disillusionment of the young when they are tricked by government. But he blames the people themselves for not studying the causes of inflation. At my behest he has constituted himself an inquiring reporter, asking the question, "What is inflation?" of practically everybody he meets. The answers he has tabulated for this column are so devoid of economic understanding that one despairs of ever bringing pressure on Washington to force our Secretary Shultzes to tell the truth.

A high school teacher, for example, says that inflation "is when prices rise faster than wages do." A supermarket manager says "it's the opposite of depression...It is also when you are making money, but not a living." A mechanic defines it as "when prices go up." A housewife says it is "the spiraling rise of commodity prices—especially the price of food commodities." A meat manager in a supermarket says "it's when the demand is high and the supply is low." A cleaning establishment entrepreneur says "it's when the buying power of the dollar decreases." A sports store proprietor echoes all the others; inflation, he thinks, is "when items are overpriced."

So far not one of the answers collected by Mr. DeLapp says a word about the causes of inflation. They amount to defining a hot day as when the thermometer goes up, which tells us nothing that we did not know already.

Some of Mr. DeLapp's received answers are pleasantly fanciful, such as a pharmacist's remark that "inflation is like filling a balloon with hot air and letting it get away from you." But who or what pumped the hot air into the balloon is left undescribed. People know what inflation does to you: a delicatessen proprietor says "if it keeps up, we're going to go out of business."

But only a few of those queried by Mr. DeLapp seemed to have a glimmering of the roots of inflation. A seventh grade math teacher said "inflation is an abundance of money, but I don't know what causes it." A broker was almost alone in observing that "the remedy is to encourage the growth of a larger number of products and services," but even this man of money didn't specify what policies might lead to the "encouragement" of production.

A couple of those interviewed by Mr. DeLapp blamed labor for the rise in costs, but the only really understanding answer came from a high school history teacher who said inflation is "when prices outstrip wages because of the unbalanced spending of the government." Mr. DeLapp promised anonymity to his respondents, but if that history teacher wil make himself known to me I'll see to it that my son takes his course.

Urge Plea Change In Watergate Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Miami attorney says he may advise four Cubans arrested in the Watergate burglary to change their pleas to innocent and sue the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

But the attorney, Ellis Rubin, also said Monday night he would delay any advice to them for a couple of weeks while he waits to see what Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., has in mind.

Rubin said he had intended to announce his plans at a news conference last Saturday in Danbury, Conn., but changed his mind after learning that Weicker, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, was interested in the men's plight.

Weicker met with the men last Monday. They pleaded guilty and are being held in a federal prison at Danbury awaiting sentence.

The senator's administrative assistant, Robert L. Herrema, said Weicker came away from the meeting "somewhat concerned."

"I am sure it is my intention to survey possible actions he might take, not as an attorney, but as a member of the committee," Herrema said.

Herrema also said he was told by a prison official that two of the Cubans, Bernard Barker and Eugenio Martinez, did not regard Rubin as their attorney.

Rubin said at the Danbury news conference that he had been retained on behalf of the four men, who have been represented by Daniel E. Schultz, a Washington lawyer. Schultz could not be reached Monday night.

Henry Rothblatt, a New York attorney who formerly represented the Cubans, said he had also advised them to change their pleas.

"That's what I told them to do two or three weeks ago," Rothblatt said in a telephone interview. "I said, 'Fellow, this is the time to act and get out of the can.'"

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to tell Herald readers, in general, and ardent Circlevillians, in particular, that there is now available a slim little volume of verse, in which they will be most interested.

"Round Town Rhymes," written and illustrated by W.W. Higgins, describes, in verse, some of the people and events that have made our town unique. From Caleb Atwater to Ted Lewis—from the ceremonies of the Mound builders to the particular flavor of Pumpkin Show, Mr. Higgins has crystallized the person or the moment with style and with affection.

The book is available for a nominal fee from Wally, himself, at 226 E. Main Street and, for the convenience of down town shoppers, at Butch's and Brunner's. You will want at least two copies—one for yourself, and one for a friend, who has moved away from Circleville—and didn't want to!

Sincerely,
TRUDY R. YATES

Ferd M. Pickens, clerk of courts and past exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge no. 77, received notification of his appointment as district deputy grand exalted ruler for the south central district of Ohio.

He succeeded Dr. J.A. Rockey of Lancaster, and was the first deputy exalted ruler the local club had.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Guy Dowdy, former Ohio club leader with Ohio state University, as emergency agricultural assistant to aid in the Pickaway-County program for increasing the purchasing power of farmers by curtailing acreages in return for cash benefit payments derived from processing taxes.

A Mr. Johnson, a tree expert, removed a large elm tree in the back yard of the Mrs. L.N. Stoltz property. The tree was found badly decayed and had become very dangerous. An examination of the stump disclosed the fact that the tree was at least two hundred and fifty years old.

Thesis Stolen Along With Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Eric Lee of Berkeley, Calif., lost more than just his car when it was stolen during a visit to Indianapolis this week.

The car was recovered Monday, but the trunk had been pried open and all his clothing was gone. Also missing was Lee's doctoral thesis on tropical chromosomes, which he was supposed to turn in this month at the University of California.

Lee said the thesis is the result of five years of research and a year of field work in South America. There are no other copies, he added.

Pending receiving his doctoral degree, Lee was to have been hired as a researcher and lecturer at Harvard University.

"You said I'd be getting a prize when I married your daughter. So where's the prize you promised me?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am early in my pregnancy and, of course, I still continue to work.

In my occupation I have occasional need to fly, and I wonder if there is any risk to the child.

Mrs. R.L., Mass.

Dear Mrs. L.:

The excellent pressurization of commercial airplanes has reduced the speculative ideas about danger to the unborn child. The problem may still exist during the later months of pregnancy if flying is done in small, non-pressurized planes.

A study done about five years ago by Dr. E. Stewart Taylor, of Denver, stated, "Women who are in the last three months of their pregnancy should not travel in non-pressurized planes. If they fly below 10,000 feet, the unborn child is not affected."

He suggests that when flying above 10,000 feet in an unpressurized plane, the mother should breathe oxygen in order to protect the child.

It is most important, particularly toward the end of your pregnancy, that the doctor in charge of your pregnancy should be consulted before you plan to fly.

Is circumcision absolutely necessary for all male children? We are contemplating having a family, and want more information about this.

Mr. and Mrs. T.L., Iowa

Dear Mr. and Mrs. L.:

Circumcision was once thought to have pure religious implications. It was advocated in the Old Testament. Jews especially have been identified with this important contribution to health.

Most physicians believe that the advantage of circumcision is the better hygiene of the penis.

A condition known as phimosis occurs only in uncircumcised males. When phymosis is present, the foreskin cannot be pushed back, and consequently debris accumulates beneath it.

Unless there is a special medical reason, the value of circumcision is great.

For some strange and unexplained reason, cancer of the penis is realtively rare in circumcised males.

Furthermore, Jewish women rarely develop cancer of the crevix or uterus. This has naturally drawn the attention of physicians to the possibility that there is a relationship between a circumcised penis and this finding.

These are the facts, and after discussion with your own doctor at the time of delivery, the decision can then be made.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . High decibel noise in factories can permanently damage one's hearing.

Protective devices are available and should be used, especially where ultrasonic vibrations are known to be noise-polluting the air.

Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — When an American visits Sweden, he usually feels right at home. If you ask him why, he may well reply "so much seems so American".

That's easy to understand because Swedes have the reputation of being the "most Americanized" people in Europe. So much is done in the American way.

They live in a modern, even ultramodern, style, surrounded by gadgets. Self-service stores, dispensers and supermarkets rapidly are replacing the little shops around the corner. They buy their clothes off the hook and they go for frozen dinners. Above all, an American has little difficulty in getting around. English is the second language.

And judged by the usual yardsticks for standard of living, Sweden more often than not ranks second only to the United States. It leads Europe, for example, in the numbers of cars, telephones, television sets, washing machines and freezers per thousand inhabitants.

But there are differences, and the longer one stays in Sweden, the more apparent they become.

Like the United States, Sweden is prosperous. The national per capita income, tops in Europe, was $3,695 in 1970 compared with $4,274 in the United States.

But it wasn't always so. During the latter half of the 19th century and until World War I, more than a million Swedes fled the poverty of Sweden, then mainly an agricultural society, and emigrated to America.

As a result of the industrial revolution, which came late to Sweden but took hold very fast, the country's people are in the main a rather uniform middle class of industrial workers, clerks and small tradesmen. In the 40 years from 1930, the percentage of the labor force engaged in agriculture has dropped from 36 per cent to only 7 per cent.

Inflation is an old story to the Swede—prices have risen about 60 per cent over the last 10 years—and prices are a shock even to visiting Americans with their own problems of high priced beef and shortages.

There are no food shortages in Sweden except as they are dictated by a household's budget. A pound of filet mignon costs from $7 to $9, ground beef about $2.50 and pork chops around $3 a pound. So it's no wonder that pea soup, baloney sausage, blood pudding and potatoes with herring have become Sweden's national dishes.

With American bourbon priced at $17 a fifth, scotch at $14 and gin at $13, many a Swede simply can't afford spirits. Sale of spirits and wines in a state monopoly and the national policy is to wean the Swede away from hard drinking to the wines which are not so highly taxed.

But perhaps the most significant difference at all between the American and Swedish way of life is that Sweden above all is a thoroughly socialized country—perhaps the most advanced in this respect in the world.

And that means high taxes. Finance Minister Gunnar Straeng has boasted that Sweden leads the international league in taxes.

The average male industrial worker earns $6,750-$7,500 annually. But his take-home pay is much lower. A married couple with an annual 1972 income of $6,000 would have to pay out about 30 per cent in direct taxes and on an income double that around 46 per cent. Another 17 per cent goes in indirect taxes on all consumer goods including food.

But the Swede, of course, gets back part of the tax in the course of his life through the state's elaborate welfare scheme—a basic pension, health insurance, child allowances, housing grants and educational subsidies.

Study Campground Reservation Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's natural resources department is considering a reservation system for the state's campgrounds, Director William B. Nye said Tuesday.

"Proposed system would consist of a contract with a firm called Ticketron," Nye said in a letter to state Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, who had inquired about such a procedure.

"Computer terminals would be located in major department stores at numerous locations across the state," Nye said. "The fee for reservations under this system would be $1.50."

Price Boosts Challenged By Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council has challenged the nation's auto manufacturers and steel companies to justify at public hearings proposed price increases they announced last week.

Council sources say the action is designed in part to show the public that the administration plans strict enforcement of its new Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Hearings will be held in Washington Aug. 28 on the auto price increases and Aug. 30 and 31 on the steel price hikes.

The nation's major steel companies, including U.S. Steel, have advised the government of their intentions to increase prices on some steel products by as much as 5 per cent.

The four big auto manufacturers have announced increases on 1974 models, led by General Motors' proposed $102 average increase per car.

A council spokesman said he could not rule out the possibility that the council would reduce or postpone the increases, which it is empowered to do under Phase 4.

Concern over the impact of the increases by the industrial giants on the nation's economy was reflected in Monday's announcement of the hearings.

"We are particularly interested in examining the potential impact the prenotified price increases in the auto and steel industries could have on the total economy," said John T. Dunlop, director of the council.

In another Phase 4 development, the council Monday granted an exception to Cross Brothers of Philadelphia, a major meatpacker, to add to prices its increased costs of buying beef.

As a result, the company, which suspended operations earlier this month, announced it would resume operations today. The firm employs 390 persons.

A council spokesman said it was the 15th exception granted to the meat industry out of 129 requests.

TV Industry Profits Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharp increases in profits by the television industry, reversing a two-year downward trend, were reported Tuesday by the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC said the three national networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—reported that pretax profits in 1971 had been $398 million for the industry, a drop of 14.2 per cent from 1970 because of the loss of cigarette advertising and increases in expenses.

In 1970 the industry had reported profits of $454 million, down 18 per cent from 1969 because of stagnating income and rising costs.

The networks, however, had reported a 7.2 per cent increase in profits last year to $54 million. The year before they had marked a decline of 46 per cent to $50 million.

The FCC said the industry reported 1972 revenues of $3.18 billion, up 15.6 per cent from the $2.75 billion of 1971. Expenses rose 11.3 per cent, compared with 0.3 per cent in 1971.

Revenues of the three national networks were up 16.2 per cent to $1.27 billion from $1.09 billion in 1971.

Revenues for network-owned stations increased 14.9 per cent to $327 million, while profits were up 12.4 per cent to $103 million.

For other stations revenues were up 15.3 per cent to $1.58 billion, while profits rose 38.7 per cent to $339 million.

The networks reported news and public affairs expenditures of $147 million, up 29.5 per cent, partly because of coverage of the political conventions.

However, FCC figures show that the 1972 political campaign had little impact on profits. Officials said some $12.6 million was spent in primaries and $24.6 million in the general election, but the profit total probably was small since the charges had to be at the lowest available rate.

The commission said advertising expenditures for television broadcasting amounted to $3.63 billion in 1972, up 14.3 per cent from 1971. This included $590 million in agency commissions, but did not include the cost of commercials and programs supplied by advertisers, which are not reported to the commission.

Of the advertising expenditures, $1.69 billion consisted of network advertising, up 13.2 per cent; $1.17 billion of national and regional spot advertising, up 14.1 per cent; and $778 million of local advertising, up 16.9 per cent.

Mark J. D'Arcangelo, who has held top management positions in General Electric's Lamp Business Division at Nela Park for the past six years, has been elected vice president of corporate employe relations at General Electric.

D'Arcangelo leaves the Lamp Business Division, of which the lamp plant in Circleville is a component, for his new duties at GE's corporate headquarters in New York.

In this position D'Arcangelo will have over-all responsibility for both union relations and for other employee relations work, including compensation and benefits, safety, equal opportunity-minority relations, personnel research and planning, and employee relations practices and consulting throughout the company.

D'Arcangelo's appointment to the corporate post was confirmed by the GE Board of Directors and is effective immediately. He succeeds John F. Burlingame, who has been named vice president and group executive of GE's International and Canadian Group.

In his most recent assignment in the Lamp Business Division, D'Arcangelo headed the Division's strategic planning operation. Previously, he served as general manager of the Large Lamp Department and as manager of the adminstrative and relations operation.

Before coming to Nela Park, D'Arcangelo was manager of employe compensation services for GE in New York. During this period he served as a member of the negotiating team during national contract talks in 1966.

D'Arcangelo also had employe relations assignments in Louisville, Ky., with GE's Range Department and the Major Appliance Division; in Evendale, Ohio, with the Jet Engine Department; and in New York, with the corporate staff.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., D'Arcangelo graduated with an engineering degree in 1949 from the Indiana Institute of Technology and attended Case Western Reserve Graduate School of Business Adminstration. He joined GE in 1952.

Rubber Firms Ask Boosts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— All of the major rubber companies with offices in Akron have asked for mid-September price increases under Phase Four guidelines, the Internal Revenue Service reported.

The IRS said it received price increase requests Monday from four northern Ohio firms, including the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. Goodyear and B.F. Goodrich, the two other major rubber companies in Akron, applied last week.

Phase Four regulations require filing and a 30-day wait for firms doing more than $100 million worth of business annually. The price increases would take effect if there is no government challenge during the 30 days.

The IRS said Firestone asked for an average increase of 5.56 per cent. Goodrich asked for a 4.4 per cent jump on tires and related products and a 3 per cent increase on aerospace products. Goodyear asked for an average 5.9 per cent increase.

IRS officials said the other three firms filing Monday were the Sherwin-Williams Co. of Cleveland, asking a 4.94 per cent increase; Parker Hannifin Corp. of Cleveland, increases ranging from 1.63 per cent to 16.95 per cent, and the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay, increases of 4.32 per cent.

Cognovit Note Illegal After Jan. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan signed into law Tuesday a bill outlawing the use of so-called cognovit notes in consumer transactions and loans.

The cognovit note allows a creditor to attach a person's wages or seize personal property for default of a payment, without notifying the debtor of the action.

"The cognovit note has long been a favorite weapon of some finance and collection agencies to exploit the poor," Gilligan said.

He said under the new law, if a consumer fails to make payments, a complaint may be filed, providing the person is informed of the complaint, of the amount of money being claimed, that he has the right to contact an attorney and that he may tell his side of the story to a judge.

The legislation will go into effect Jan. 1, 1974.

"I believe that allowing a consumer's money or property to be taken in payment of a debt without giving him a chance to explain his reasons for defaulting is an unconscionable act," the governor said.

MRS. JOHN SCHUYLER ARNOLD

Miss Sheryl Lynn Binns, John S. Arnold Are Wed

Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville was the setting for the 2:30 p.m., Aug. 18th wedding of Miss Sheryl Lynn Binns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Binns Jr., Route 5, Circleville and Mr. John Schuyler Arnold III, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Arnold Jr. of Mishawaka, Ind.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with vases of lavender, white, and pink carnations and snapdragons.

Mrs. Thomas Downing presented several nuptial selections on the organ and accompanied Mr. Terry Anderson, soloist, as he sang "One Heart — One Hand," "The Wedding Song," "One Perfect Love," and "May The Lord Protect And Defend You," during a program of music preceding the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father past pews marked with white satin bows centered with lavender carnations and baby's breath. She selected for her wedding day a white formal length gown of satin organza over taffeta. The empire, A-line silhouette dress featured a high ruffled neckline and long puffed sleeves gathered at the wrist by tight fitting cuffs. The bride's hemline was accented by a deep accordian pleated border and imported Swiss Lace accented the neckline, bodice, cuffs and hemline of the dress. The bride's cathedral length English illusion veil was held in place by a dainty mantilla headpiece also trimmed with Swiss lace matching that of the dress. She carried a bouquet of lavender and white carnations accented with deep purple statice, ivy, and long lavender streamers. A lace wedding handerchief was also centered in the bouquet.

Mrs. Richard Stacy of Circleville served her sister as matron of honor. She was attired in a floor length lavender gown of silk organza. Her A-line dress featured a V-shaped neck line, long puffed sleeves, and a half belt which tied at the back. The collar and cuffs of the dress were of white satin trimmed with English lace.

Mrs. Robert Parsons, Shelly, Shelby, Ohio, and Miss Karen Binns, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the honor attendant and all the three girls wore white picture hats with lace trim of lavender and white. They each carried a single white carnation surrounded by deep purple statice and fern with white satin ribbons on the stems.

Miss Jennifer Jacquemotte, niece of the groom, was flowergirl. She was dressed in a floor length lavender, pink, and white floral print gown and carried a basket of minature lavender, white, and pink carnations.

Master Steven Spires, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer carrying a heart-shaped lace trimmed ring pillow.

Mr. William Arnold served his brother as best man and Mr. Richard Stacy of Circleville and Mr. Michael McGuire of Indianapolis, Ind., were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of pink polyester featuring a bodice and long sleeves of pink chiffon. Her corsage was of lavender and pink carnations and pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Arnold wore a light blue dress of worsted silk with long sleeves of sheer accordian pleated organza. Her dress also had a full length matching vest and she wore a corsage of white carnations and pink Sweetheart roses.

A reception in the church Parish House immediately followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake sat atop pillars over an arrangement of lavender, white, and pink flowers which were surrounded by ivy and cupids. The cake was topped with a cupid figurine and flanked by silver candelabra surrounded by flowers and ivy matching those under the cake. Hostesses were Mrs. Darrell Dumm, Mrs. William Crosby, Miss Peggy Burke, Miss Eileen Mauck, and Miss Alice Polance.

For a wedding trip to the Bahama Islands the bride wore a two-piece green and white polyester suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Both the bride and groom are seniors at Purdue University in West Lafayette Ind., where they will reside following their honeymoon.

The couple was honored with a dinner at Pickaway Arms following the wedding rehearsal on Friday evening hosted by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Arnold Jr.

Out-of-town guests were from Cleveland, Shelby and Toledo, Ohio, Oregon, Indiana, and Michigan.

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

SUNDAY BRUNCH

Fresh Fruit Cup, Potato Omelet, Grilled Ham, Pecan Coffeecake & Beverage.

POTATO OMELET

From Spanish cuisine.

3 small potatoes
1 small onion
4 tablespoons olive oil
4 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt

Peel and thinly slice potatoes — there should be about 1½ cups. Peel and thinly slice onion and separate into rings. In a 10-inch skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the oil; add potatoes and onion and cook gently, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are soft — this may take as long as 1 hour but potatoes and onion should not brown. In a medium mixing bowl beat eggs and salt until yolks and whites are combined; stir in potatoes and onion. Add the remaining 2 tablespoons oil to the skillet and heat; add egg mixture. Cook gently until lightly browned on underside and just set on top; invert a large plate over the potato mixture and turn out; slide back into skillet and brown underside. Cut into 4 wedges and remove with a wide spatula. Makes 4 small servings.

Garden Started As Luxury Now Necessity In Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — In a weedy vacant lot near the low-income housing project she calls home, Virginia Moore is trying to grow a bargain.

"You get a whole lot of food for just a 15-cent pack of seeds," says the mother of seven.

But gardening isn't as much fun this year for Mrs. Moore, whose weekly grocery bill has jumped from $50 to $80.

For at least three years, she and her neighbors in the Dutch Point project have planted collard greens and egg plants outside their kitchen doors. For many of the black and Spanish-speaking residents, the practice was reminiscent of their roots.

This year the garden is a necessity, Mrs. Moore said.

The city housing authority agreed to turn a quarter-acre lot into a garden for 40 residents.

The 40 plots contain corn, tomatoes, turnips, collard greens, mustard greens and cabbage.

Mrs. Moore's neighborhood lies between Hartford's insurance headquarters skyline and the warehouses and factories along the Connecticut River.

Every evening, the gardeners carry pails of water and hand tools across the street to the gardens. The soil of the lot makes for a poor farm. Rubble is mixed with the gray clay.

"I'm from the South, and we used to eat collard greens and black-eyed peas," said Betty Dunn, a mother of three. "We're going back to that and canned goods like soup, yams and franks and beans."

Maggie Alston, a welfare mother, says she buys meat for Sunday only, and it's usually chicken.

Driver Keeps Cool

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A bus driver remained cool when some hot high-voltage wires clattered down around his vechicle.

The driver kept the doors shut until the wires touching the bus stopped moving. He then hurried his passengers off the bus. Moments later the vehicle exploded into flames. No one was injured.

Corona Maintains Innocence In 25 California Slayings

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Emphatically proclaiming his innocence, Juan Corona says he lives in faith he will win a new trial and prove he did not murder 25 itinerant workers near Yuba City, Calif., in 1971.

That was the nation's largest mass murder case until 27 bodies were unearthed in Texas this month.

The former farm labor contractor said it is impossible for him to think of spending the rest of his life in jail, despite the sentence of 25 consecutive life terms.

"No! No! No! Whatever they accuse me for, I know it is not true, and God knows it is not true," the 39-year-old Corona said.

"Why does an innocent man spend his life in prison if he didn't commit a crime. I think that justice will be reasonable...

"I never put it in my mind that I'm going to be here forever, because it's not right, because that's impossible.... They will have to prove the truth."

He said he is ready and willing to take a lie detector test, if the authorities will give him oné.

Asked if he knew who did commit the murders, Corona replied: "I don't know, sir."

Dressed in blue prison denims, Corona appeared relaxed and in good health during an interview Monday at the California Medical Facility 50 miles northeast of San Francisco.

He blamed his conviction on his attorney's decision not to let Corona or any other defense witness testify in the six-month trial that ended last February. Corona said he wants another trial to tell his story.

Corona's former attorney, Richard Hawk, had promised in opening arguments of the trial to rebut prosecution evidence against his client, but he didn't present a single witness.

Asked Monday if he thought that was a mistake, Corona replied, "Naturally.... I didn't decide (to rest the case then). My attorney was sure that the prosecutors proved nothing."

Several members of the 10-man, two-woman jury that convicted Corona said after the trial that they had wanted to hear his story and that Hawk's decision hurt Corona's case.

It was Abraham Lincoln who said the ballot is stronger than the bullet.

Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Shipe arrived in our town last Wednesday afternoon and will be here for something like three or four weeks aiding her mother (and our dearly loved ninety-nine year old neighbor) Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Smiley in preparing for Grandma Smiley's eventual move to Macon, Ga., where she will make her home with Ruth. After sixty-two years of happy homemaking in the same home it will take some doing to determine what goes where.

Keeping the days from ever having a dull moment at our home is my nephew David Michael McClure of Londonderry who arrived last Friday and will be here for the next several days. He enjoys visiting at the Graffis household also. Could the attraction be T-Bird?

Taking a vacation for the first time in six years, Floyd Cox and his Betty "lived it up" and really had a great time visiting with friends and family in Dayton and Chillicothe. Coming in to Ohio from their San Raphael, Calif., home were Fred and Lucille Merritt (Floyd's sister). It had been fourteen years since brother and sister had been together so what a joyous reunion it was.

During vacation the Coxes welcomed their grandson's new bride into the family. Michael Lee Schrake and Beth Gray were united in marriage in North Carolina and will make their home in Chillicothe.

One day the vacationers took granddaughters Mindy and Kelly Picklesimer and their friend Kim Huff and spent a day at King's Island. Vacation is over and the daily routine begun again but the happy memories will linger on for a long time. That's how it is with vacations.

Other vacationers recently returned to hometown environs are George and Janey Hamman. They toured all the interesting tourist spots in the state of Pennsylvania enjoying the Amish country around Lancaster, Pa., the historical significance of Gettysburg, the excitement of Pittsburgh and so on.

Bill Hamman guested with cousin Dave Peterson at Frankfort while his parents were away. Dave is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson.

This past Sunday Bill celebrated his fifteenth birthday and family members adding to the enjoyment of the day were Aunt Jo Hamman, cousins Carl and Jennie of Clarksburg; Grandpa and grandmama George and Frances Hamman of Williamsport Pike.

A sort of post birthday get together for Lana Commeans in the form of a weiner roast was held at the home of her parents Bill and Candy Commeans on Friday evening. Lana reached her eighth birth date on Aug. 12. Little friends sleeping over for the night were Sheryl Horch, Brenda Myers, Brenda Galloway, Sarah Roush, Kendra Spires, Sherrie Stevens, Tenna Felkey, Amy Easterday and sister Lori Commeans.

Saturday morning early, Ron Bush, Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival royalty members Queen Lisa Creamer, Pre-Teen Queen Sandra Drummond, and Pre-Teen King Brad Thompson along with David McClure and myself set out for Bucyrus and the Bratwurst Festival where we were treated "royally".

It was our pleasure to meet Mrs. James Krauter who was a college buddy of our own Bernice (Mrs. VanMeter) Hulse. Mrs. Krauter is also a cousin of Mrs. Jean Schieber of Circleville. The Krauters are Bucyrus residents and she was helping out in the local Grange booth.

Leaving Bratwurst country the group headed for the Madison County Fair at London where once again we received royal treatment. The amusement company there is the same one coming to our own festival Sept. 12 thru 16 so the young people were treated to many free rides by the management.

Arriving home quite late it was a very tired but happy "bunch" since we had learned many new and interesting things concerning "doing" a festival. It is hopeful that some of these things can yet be incorporated in our own shindig this year. If not we surely will work towards that goal for another year.

Queen Lisa entered Mt. Carmel hospital on Sunday and was on the schedule to have a tonsillectomy this morning (Monday). We all wish her a rapid recovery.

Jim and Betty Howell and son Thadd and Mrs. Dorothy Phelps drove into the driveway Saturday afternoon from a really great eight days in the Southland. Leaving here they drove through West Virginia and on to the Skyline Drive at Virginia through the Shenandoah Valley scenic area to a section of the Blue Ridge to Roanoke. From thence they headed down through North Carolina and South Carolina to Myrtle Beach where Betty and Thadd had their first look-see at the Atlantic Ocean.

Several days were spent in this locale and one day was spent indulging in deep sea fishing (all but Betty who wasn't all that brave). No big catch was made but quite a number of smaller ones were brought up from the briny. One of the party became sea sick each time the boat stopped (and she wasn't of the male gender). One day was given to touring Brooks Green Gardens at Myrtle Inlet. The vacationers report the gardens were lush with gorgeous flowers, trees and sculpture works. There was also a wildlife area that was most interesting. The return trip was by way of Tennessee, Renfro Valley, Kentucky, southern Ohio.

The Howell lassies LuAnn and Missy remained at home with baby sitter Grandma Hazel Clark and they were all protected by the faithful "watchdog" Hashie.

From many directions guests came to attend the wedding of Cathy Lemaster and Chuck Julian this past Saturday. Houseguests of George and Marilyn Lemaster are Earl (Corky) and Becky Speakman, John and Darlene Mutz of New Orleans, La., Uncle Ralph and Aunt Ruth Drake of Bellvue, Ohio. Also here were Dave and Barbara Riley, Debbie and John of St. Albans, W. Va. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

A reunion of the descendants of David and Lula Dougherty was held Sunday at the home of Lloyd and Margie Dougherty Drummond. During the day those attending had the pleasure of "touring" the newly built home of David and Marabel Drummond, Connie, Joy and Sandra. The Drummonds are moved into their lovely new home and will soon have a "demolition squad" at work on their former home. Sunday evening David and daughter Sandra and neice Susan Drummond left for South Bend, Ind., on business in conjunction with the family's Scioto Oliver Implement Co. located in Chillicothe. They expected to return late Monday.

State Aid Eyed For Hemophiliacs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State aid may soon be on the way to Ohio's victims of hemophilia, the bleeding disease.

Senate Bill 160, which passed, 33-0, July 16, authorizes the director of health to spend $250,000 over the next two years to help victims of the genetic defect which hinders blood clotting.

"The $250,000 is just a drop in the bucket, but we hope it will enable us to start determining how many hemophiliacs there are in Ohio and where help for them might be found," said Dr. John Ackerman, head of the State Health Department's communicable Diseases Division.

The bill was sent to the House Health Committee just hours before the legislature adjourned for a summer vacation. The bill is expected to be acted on shortly after the legislature reconvenes Aug. 27.

The legislation directs the Health Department to look into blood donor, financial assistance and education programs.

"The bill provides very little in the way of direct help. And unfortunately, we don't know any federal programs in which we might use the funds for seed money," Ackerman said.

Ackerman said he will start recruiting staff and planning programs during the 90-day waiting period between the time the governor signs the bill and it becomes law.

The money probably will go primarily to educational efforts, Akcerman said.

"We can taach hemophiliacs how to avoid and control bleeding episodes. We also need to alert parents to the symptoms of hemophilia so they can take the appropriate precautions with their children."

The disease, rare in women, usually strikes young men, Ackerman said, although mothers may pass the disease along to sons without showing the symptoms.

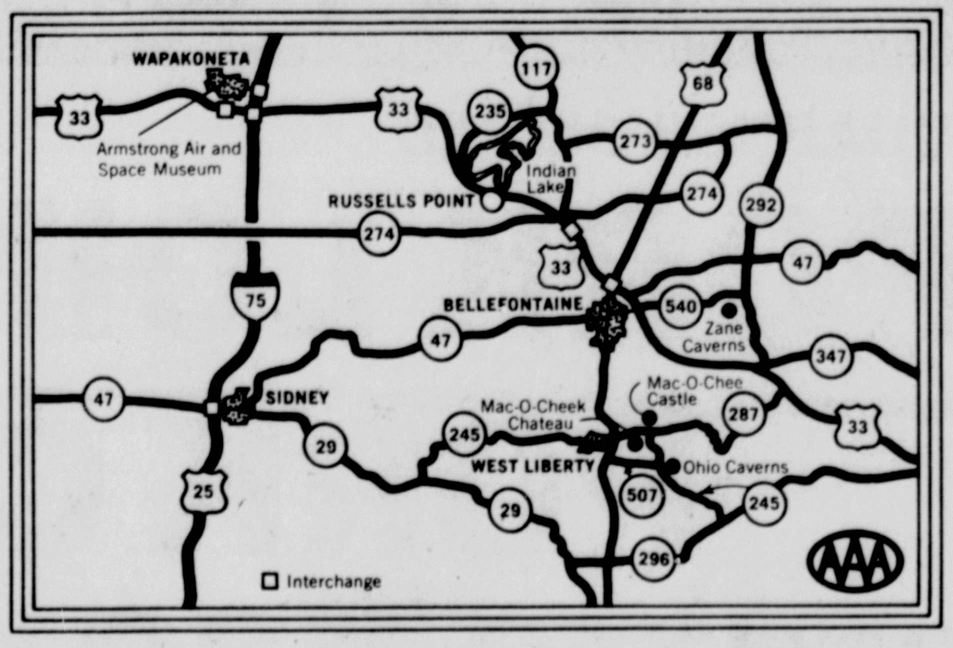
The bill was offered in the Senate by Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30, Steubenville, and Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown.

"The bill was born of a request from about a dozen Steubenville residents who wanted relief from the astronomical costs of blood transfusions and drugs needed when a hemophiliac suffers a serious injury or undergoes surgery," Applegate said.

"This is just a start, I hope. The sicklecell anemia program was started last year with the same amount. This time it received $2 million.

The Office of Manage and Budget indicates the hemophiliac program ultimately could receive from $1.5 million to $3 million," the Senator said.

Caves And Castles Tour Attractions



EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Auto Club Travel Department for The Herald.

Caves and castles are the top attractions on the AAA suggested tour this week over scenic routes in the north central - western section of Ohio.

You'll visit Ohio's largest cave at Ohio Caverns near West Liberty and the well-known Piatt castles, owned and operated by William and J. J. Piatt, are only three miles away.

A walk through the Ohio Caverns takes nearly an hour. The one-mile path is all one way. There is no backtracking and just about every turn provides another spectacular sight. Many accommodations are available - shelter house, picnic tables, rest rooms and amusements for the children and plenty of good drinking water.

Next stop is the Piatt castles, named Mac-A-Cheek and Mac-O-Chee. The older of the two castles, Mac-A-Cheek, is in the form of a French fortified castle, has 35 rooms on its three floors and a five-story tower. Gen. Piatt had it built from materials found on the estate - hand chiseled cream limestone from a quarry and mortar of lime burned in the kiln located near the quarry. It took four years to complete the two-foot thick walls.

After leaving the caves and castles, a drive through the area near Bellefontaine will bring you to Indian Lake, one of the state's largest (5800 acres) with excellent facilities for water sport lovers, especially boating.

Other places of interest in the vicinity are Ohio Caverns on Ohio 245 and Zane Caverns on Ohio 540. Both offer guided tours that require about an hour.

In the same general area is Wapakoneta on Route 33, the home of Neil Armstrong, "The First Civilian Astronaut" and the "First Man on the Moon."

The 14,000 square foot Armstrong Air and Space Museum is located at the Fisher-Wapakoneta Road intersection of Interstate Highway 75. It is dedicated to those Ohioans who have played a major role in man's conquest of gravity. The museum is administered by The Ohio Historical Society and is open weekdays, Sunday and holidays and closed on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years.

AAA suggests this routing to the tour area: From Circleville, go north on U.S. 23 to I-270; use the west leg of the (outerbelt) I-270 to U.S. 33; northwest on U.S. 33 to the tour area.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wanted: Rich, Pretty, Wife

DEAR ABBY: I would like to find a wealthy woman to marry, but she has to have more than money. She must be well-educated, pretty, and have a good figure. I don't want one with children living with her. She can take a social drink but she should know when to stop. Under no circumstances would I marry a woman who smokes. She can be anywhere from 35 to 50, but she must be in good health and romantically inclined.

I am a 49-year-old widower who was happily married to the same woman for 26 years. I am 6 ft. 3 and weigh 210 pounds. I am in excellent health and work out in the YMCA daily. I have a master's degree and earn $12,000 a year. I work a 40-hour week and have every weekend off, like to dance, swim, and travel. I do not smoke or get drunk, and I am definitely romantically inclined.

I think it's just as easy to love a rich woman as a poor one if all the other qualifications are met. Does this make sense to you?

LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Yes. And it's just as easy for a rich woman to love a rich man. And a lot easier for her to land one, so don't get your hopes up.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live directly across the highway from his parents, who are very nice.

We have an opportunity to sell our home, which is on a one-acre piece of property given to us by his parents. They say we shouldn't sell because they gave us that land. Now my husband has reconsidered selling, and I am very unhappy.

Abby, we have two sons, 3 and 5 years old, and it is very dangerous living on a busy highway because the boys like to run across it a lot to visit their grandparents. We can't keep them inside all year around, and a fense doesn't help.

We offered to pay his parents for the land, but they refuse to accept anything. Are they being selfish? Or am I being hoggish?

WANTS TO SELL

DEAR WANTS: A gift once given becomes the property of the person to whom it was given. His parents have attached strings to their gift. This is their way of keeping you near them, and unless your husband is sufficiently independent to sell anyway, they've got you where they want you.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing for suggestions on what to do about a husband who is in the armed forces, stationed in Missouri. He doesn't feel that it's necessary to keep in touch.

I've asked him to write: "He's too "busy." I've asked him to phone: "It's too expensive.

Since he doesn't bother writing to me, I didn't write to him, so finally after a long silence, he called me. When I tried to explain why I hadn't written he wouldn't listen.

I am employed full time and have two children to look after. I told him I worry when I get no word from him, and his response was: "If I die, the service will inform you."

What do you suggest?

LETTERLESS

DEAR LETTERLESS: Quit playing tit for tat, and write to him whether you hear from him or not. And write happy, cheerful, newsy, interesting letters. And include local newspaper items and amusing cartoons. You can catch more bears with honey than the bair you're throwing out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.F. IN ATLANTA: No one said it better than Mark Twain: "Grief can take care of itself, but to get the full value of joy, you must have someone to share it with."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to AB-BY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose, stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

In contrast, Cleveland, warmed by northerly winds blowing across the 75-degree Lake Erie, had a 62 reading.

Forecasters said the fair weather will continue through Thursday. Temperatures were to be in the 60s and 70s today, in the 50s tonight and reach the low 80s Thursday.

3 Men Held, LSD Confiscated

ERLANGER, Ky. (AP) — Erlanger police and federal drug agent arrested three men and confiscated 19,000 dosages of LSD with a street value of $60,000 Tuesday night.

Charged with federal drug violations were Kenneth R. Graham, 20, Carrollton, Ky., and Larry W. Begley, 22, and Jimmy D. Helton, 24, both of Austin, Ind.

The trio were held as federal prisoners in the Covington, Ky., jail following the arrests in Boone County.

Pay For Fish Kill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mowrey Trucking Co. of Tiffin has paid the Ohio Department of Natural Resources $1,000 for 2,258 fish killed when a Mowrey truck overturned last January, pouring fuel oil into Dobbins Ditch in Crawford County.

Trouble Still Plagues Lucasville

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Guard troubles continued to plague the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility and the Department of Correction and Rehabilitation on Tuesday.

A meeting scheduled between Corrections chief Bennett J. Cooper and Teamsters Local 413 representing 250 guards at the Lucasville prison never materialized.

The local filed suit in Franklin County Common Pleas Court to force the department to permit corrections workers to carry blackjacks and aerosol spray repellent.

In a related matter, State Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, disclosed that a guard charged with smuggling a pistol into the prison had a record of 12 previous police arrests.

Speck, who recently toured the prison to write a minority report for the Ohio House, said guard Ronald H. Pratt's record was obtained from the Portsmouth police department. Pratt was indicted by a Scioto County grand jury last month.

Cooper said, "The records down in the personnel office don't say anything about this man being convicted of any felonies." He said the department has a policy never to hire former prison inmates as prison guards.

Pratt's record dates back to 1964 and includes three convictions for disorderly conduct and one conviction of assault with a dangerous weapon, Speck said.

The Cooper-Teamster meeting never occurred after the two sides disagreed on a gathering time.

Teamsters Local 413 President Victor G. Everett said the department agreed to meet with union representatives at 10:30 a.m.

Department spokesman John Linta said the meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m. Union leaders did not wait the half-hour for Cooper, Linta said.

Everett said the proposed discussion was to center on "over 150 unresolved grievances" against Cooper that the union filed.

Among those grievances was unsafe conditions at the prison which led to a walkout by some prison guards at Lucasville last week.

Another grievance was the department's prohibition of guards carrying blackjacks and spray repellents into the prison. That department decision is being fought in the courts.

Everett said the union filed a suit Tuesday and did not know if a hearing date was set in the Columbus court.

Woman Wins School Bus

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—A Virginia mother of 11 won a new school bus for her home area here Tuesday night for her suggestion on improving school bus safety.

Mrs. Pearl P. Randolph, a member of the Goochland County, Va., Board of Education, was named the grand prize winner at an awards banquet climaxing a national campaign to increase school bus safety. The campaign was sponsored by Wayne Corp., one of the world's largest school bus manufacturers.

Mrs. Randolph won with her suggestion to assist bus drivers by acoustically muffling noise from passengers.

The bus, Wayne Corp.'s newest model, will go to the Goochland County school district.

"We've got a thousand and one uses we can put that new school bus to," said Mrs. Randolph, who has nine daughters and two sons.

Bowling Green Man Sentenced In Shooting

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old Bowling Green man has been senteced to 1-20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory in connection with a blackmail-related shooting Feb. 12.

Terry Meeker was convicted of shooting with intent to kill in the wounding of Charles Holtengrave of Findlay.

Meeker and two young women had pleaded guilty to soliciting persons in taverns, photographing them in compromising positions and then blackmailing them.

The two women have not been sentenced.

2 Men Fatally Hurt In Accident

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Two men were killed Tuesday night when their car collided head-on with another auto on Ohio 545 just northeast of here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the victims as Thomas B. Moffatt of Mansfield and Joseph H. Beard, 21, of Sarasota, Fla.

Dealers Set Protest Labor Day

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Some 400 Cincinnati and northern Kentucky service station operators were advised Tuesday night to "take a vacation" Labor Day in protest over Phase 4 economic regulations.

The Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Association met following an all day meeting between association president Mike Kunnen and the Internal Revenue Service Economic Stabilization Program officials here.

Kunnen told the association that Phase 4 regulations forbid the dealers to close in protest. That's when he suggested the dealers "just take off with your families for a day of vacation."

Kunnen said earlier that the regulations force the dealers to roll back to Jan. 10, 1973 price levels.

Kunnen said the dealers were operating on a seven per cent gallon profit at that time. Most dealers, until the regulations went into effect Sunday, increased the profit margin to nine cents, he said.

"What they have done is put us in a separate category out of the rest of the economy," Kunnen complained.

He said the cutback will force many dealers to lose money on their operations and in some cases, force them out of business.

New Bishop Takes Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pledging to minister "in the spirit of faith," the Rev. Edward J. Herrman was installed Tuesday as the ninth bishop of the 23-county Columbus Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

In a homily prepared for the ceremony, Bishop Herrman said, "Faith has a way of increasing confidence in God. It has a way of directing our aspirations and our efforts."

The two-hour ceremony in St. Joseph's Cathedral brought together clergy of three faiths and dignitaries including Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Also attending were Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., Archbishop Joseph Bernardin of Cincinnati and Cardinal John Carberry of St. Louis, a former bishop of Columbus.

Bishop Herrmann earlier said he planned to continue his efforts to aid elderly and retired persons. He said he hoped to become acquainted with persons in the community outside the Roman Catholic Church.

Bishop Herrman, from Washington, D.C., was named June 26 by Pope Paul VI to replace the late Bishop Clarence Elwell.

The tablet bears the inscription, "Here is the place where death enjoys helping life."

The school has received more than 1,300 pledges since starting the body donation project in 1967, officials say.

Jenkins, Cubs Rip Reds, 6-4

CHICAGO (AP)—Ace pitcher Ferguson Jenkins, the sometimes-reluctant dragon of the Chicago Cubs, is smiling again after winning a "confidence builder" over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday.

So were his Cub mates, and particularly manager Whitey Lockman, after Jenkins withstood a 10-hit Red attack for a 6-4 victory marking Jenkins' first complete game since July 6.

Jenkins changed Wrigley Field jeers to cheers exactly one week after flinging four bats on the field when he was bombed out by Atlanta and then being quoted saying he wanted to be traded to the Detroit Tigers.

Jenkins, a $125,000-a-year performer after six successive 20-victory seasons, might have turned the corner in a struggling campaign when Lockman refrained from yanking him after Joe Morgan's two-run homer in the seventh tied the score at 4-4.

"I had no thought of taking him out," said Lockman, who saw his club lose 11 straight before capturing two out of three from the Los Angeles Dodgers last weekend.

"It was important for Fergie to get in a nine-inning job. If we've got a shot at the division pennant, we must have Jenkins pitching well and he needed a confidence builder."

Jenkins appreciated that vote of confidence, saying, "When Whitey didn't pinch hit for me in the seventh, I knew I had to go out and hold them. I wanted to pick up the team after I felt I let them down."

The inspiration also was reflected in Jenkins' singling across an insurance run in the eighth after striking out three straight times.

Jenkins has a current record of 11-12 and obviously has little chance to reach the 20-win mark for the seventh year with only 38 Cub games remaining.

"I know I've had a bad year, but maybe I can recover and have at least a break-even season," said Jenkins. "I hope to win some more games down the stretch. We've got as good a pennant chance as anyone in our division.

"When I said I wanted to be traded to Detroit, I was joking with Milt Pappas about us going in a package deal after our poor seasons," said the 29-year-old righthander. "Detroit is near my home at Chatham, Ont., so I mentioned the Tigers.

"I'm not unhappy here. Sure the ball park is small and I don't like to pitch in a small park. The wind is always a factor in Wrigley Field. Like today, I got a pitch up high and it was a home run.

"Nobody in his right mind ever wants to be traded when he is making money. If there was still another league and I was 40, sure I'd like to go where I could make more money."

It was the first loss for River Oil in 30 games. The Roundtown stars scored three runs in the third inning and four in the fifth to take a 7-1 lead in the game.

River Oil bounced back with two in the sixth and added three more in the top of the seventh.

Robbie Sark hurled the win, walking only one, fanning seven and giving up nine hits, all singles.

Scott Sanders led the local squad in hitting, connecting safely all four times he was at bat. Mark Ranck, Larry Pontious and Brian Sealock each had two hits, John Harr and Jeff Strawser one each.

The losing pitcher was Steve Loel. He walked eight, fanned three and was touched for 12 hits.

Bert Jones Looks Good To Colts After Game Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marty Domres still is the No. 1 quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, but rookie Bert Jones is offering stiff competition sooner than expected.

"We wouldn't be afraid to play Jones anytime now," General Manager Joe Thomas said today. "He has great composure, and wouldn't be flustered by starting."

The confidence in Jones, Baltimore's top draft choice from Louisiana State University, grew tremendously last Saturday when he directed a 14-play, 80-yard drive that produced a touchdown with 29 seconds remaining and gave Baltimore a 32-28 victory over Detroit in their National Football League exhibiton game.

Domres, a reserve quarterback at San Diego for three seasons, replaced Baltimore's legendary Johnny Unitas for the last nine games of the 1972 season and threw 11 touchdown passes.

He'll start again in Washington Saturday night against the Redskins, with Jones taking over in the second quarter. It's uncertain which quarterback will play the second half.

Jones, only in his fourth week with Baltimore after playing in the College All-Star game against the Super Bowl-champion Miami Dolphins last month, said he is concentrating on learning the Colts' system and how to run it.

"I'm not anticipating how much I'll play, if I start, or when I'll start," he said. "I'm not saying that I'm even going to play. That's up to the coach."

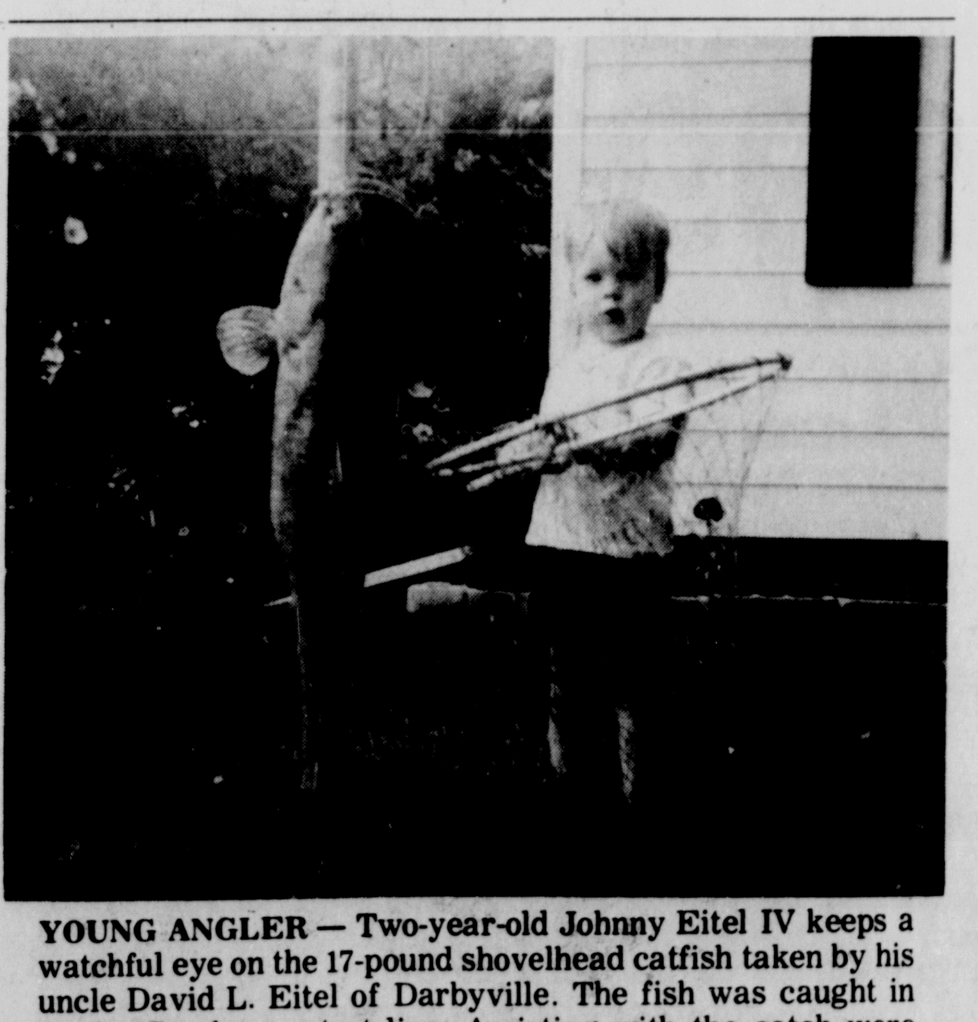
Then he added: "But I'm a competitor, and I'm never happy with being second."

Meanwhile, the Dallas Cowboys' quarterback situation remained unsettled. Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday Roger Staubach would start in Thursday night's exhibition against the Houston Oilers and Craig Morton likely would play the second half. However, Landry refused to concede that Staubach was ahead of Morton. "There's no edge either way," he said.

New York Giants Coach Alex Webster met with quarterback Randy Johnson and dispelled reports that Johnson had asked to be traded. Johnson denied the reports. He is vying with Norm Snead for the starting job.

The Philadelphia Eagles named wide receiver Harold Carmichael and guard Mark Nordquist as offensive captains and safety Bill Bradley and linebacker Steve Zabel as defensive captains.

The New Orleans Saints learned they would be without safety Hugo Hollas for the entire season. Hollas suffered torn cartilage and ligaments in his left knee during last week's exhibition game against Dallas.



YOUNG ANGLER — Two-year-old Johnny Eitel IV keeps a watchful eye on the 17-pound shovelhead catfish taken by his uncle David L. Eitel of Darbyville. The fish was caught in Darby Creek on a trot line. Assisting with the catch were Brian Eitel, Chuck and John Smith.

Swimmers Go After Gold Medals

MOSCOW (AP) — America's swimmers who won three of the first four aquatic events go for six gold medals today, and the high-riding men's basketball team heads toward a Friday collision with the Soviets in the World University Games.

The U.S. men's basketball squad beat Czechoslovakia 100-59 Tuesday and planned a day off today. Instead the Americans will play Cuba, upset 51-49 by Brazil.

Coach Ed Badger, apparently expecting to meet the loser of the Brazil-Cuba game Thursday and then play Friday's final, was surprised by the knockout setup that includes eight teams.

"We were planning a day of rest Wednesday to prepare for the semifinals," Badger said. "I'm sure the boys will not like the change."

Other games today pit Yugoslavia against Canada, the Soviet Union against Czechoslovakia Winners play Thursday for a spot in Friday's finals.

The Israeli basketball team defeated Puerto Rico 77-61 despite a third day of heckling by Russian soldiers who ringed the tiny arena ostensibly to control the crowds.

Uniformed Red Army soldiers ripped up a paper Israeli flag held aloft by Soviet Jews while some spectators shouted "kikes, kikes."

Annual 'Dog Days' Inflicted On Anglers

BY JIM DAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

It is written in The Great Book of Fishing that the "dog days" of summer are to be inflicted upon all anglers at about this time annually.

There is no escaping this piscatorial purgatory. It is a time when fish care more about comfort than food and when fishermen that like fresh-caught fish are apt to go hungry themselves.

In Ohio the dog days occur during various spans of July and August when the air is still, the weather hot and humid and the sun shines brightly on your favorite fishing hole.

Fishing is not hopeless at this time, although it generally is the least productive period outside the dead of winter.

Recognizing changes in fish behavior during the dog days and compensating for them may help catch more fish, but nothing is foolproof during this unpredictable period.

Fish have no eyelids to regulate the amount of brightness to which their eyes are exposed. To avoid the discomfort of bright days they seek shaded or deep regions of their underwater realm.

The warmer the water the less oxygen it normally contains. So on calm, hot days fish retire to the depths where they can "breathe" more easily and where the water temperatures are more comfortable.

The wise fisherman will work his lure or bait slowly.

Live bait, too, is preferable at this time when fish are finicky eaters. Minnows, crayfish, grasshoppers or nightcrawlers, used alone or to spice an artificial lure, will pay off much better than hardware on its own.

In a stream, fish deep holes, below riffles and along undercut or shaded banks. And don't pass up the shaded or downstream side of large rocks in midstream.

Overcast days when there's a slight chop on the water are better on lakes than bright, still days. Seek out the deeper holes or cover that would provide shade under water.

Understand above all that not all fish have read The Great Book and therefore some cannot be expected to abide by the rules therein. Be prepared for the exception.

Adjust for the special conditions of the dog days, but don't stay home just because the challenge is greater.

USC Could Repeat As Grid Champions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With luck, a good team and a few other ingredients, Coach John McKay says his University of Southern California Trojans can repeat as national collegiate football champions.

McKay adds, "Looking ahead is for losers."

Yet McKay's 14th Trojan team appears better than good. Twenty-six lettermen return, including Anthony Davis, the do-everything tailback; riflearmed junior quarterback Pat Haden and Richard Wood, the big, quick linebacker who was All-American last year as a sophomore.

"I'd say our chances of another perfect season are not very good," said McKay, whose Trojans went 12-0 last season and will try to make their unbeaten streak 18 games Sept. 15 against Arkansas in Memorial Coliseum.

Odds of any collegiate team going undefeated and untied are long, and the Southern Cal schedule offers ample opportunity for a fall. After Arkansas, USC goes to Georgia Tech, then hosts Oklahoma, last year's No. 2 team in the nation but perhaps hurt by Big 8 probation for the next two years. Washington and UCLA are the Trojans' primary Pacific-8 contenders, and then there's Notre Dame waiting at South Bend on Oct. 27. "Our schedule is about the same as last year," said McKay "It's always tough."

McKay's offensive line has been depleted by graduation— All-American tight end Charles Young, tackle Pete Adams, center Dave Brown and guards Allan Graf and Mike Ryan. He also must replace defensive tackles John Grant and Jeff Winans.

"We've lost some high quality football players but I think we have quality returning," he said. "A lot of those guys are being replaced by men who aren't exactly new faces."

Steve Riley and Booker Brown are two offensive forwards who played plenty last year, and 285-pound tackle Mike McGirr is back after missing 1972 with knee surgery.

At the so-called skilled offensive positions, the Trojans have great depth — except at quarterback where Haden takes over full-time from the graduated Mike Rae, who is playing in Canada.

Lynn Swann is a polished flanker and punt returner and J.K. McKay, the coach's son, proved his worth at split end as a sophomore. There are other receivers but the great Trojan strength is at tailback, where Davis, Rod McNeill and Allen Carter return.

Davis, the 5-foot-9, 190-pound sophomore sensation, rushed for 1,191 yards, caught 18 passes for 132 more and returned 12 kickoffs 468 yards. He scored 19 touchdowns, handled kickoff chores and passed for a two-point converssion.

As if that's not enough, McKay has given him Rae's placekicking job.

"That means he will do everything but pump up the balls," quipped McKay. Davis showed that he has recovered from injuries suffered in an auto accident by playing on USC's national championship baseball team.

Atlanta Bombards Cardinals

By FRANK BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer

As usual, reporters clustered around Hank Aaron's dressing area in the Atlanta Braves' clubhouse.

But Tuesday night wasn't a night to talk about home runs and Babe Ruth's record.

Aaron was loose, smiling, laughing—a side not often shown by the slugger who day after day chases the Babe's alltime record—after Atlanta's 11-7 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

He chuckled over all the running he had done, churning his 39-year-old legs around the bases to score from first on both of teammate Dusty Baker's doubles and legging out a double of his own in the third inning.

He mocked indignation at having to work so hard, but couldn't conceal the fact that he was having a good time.

"Dusty's got no consideration at all, making me run like that," the affable Aaron said. "I told him if he's going to run me from first base, he might as well hit a triple."

There would be other times to talk about home runs and Babe Ruth and pressure. Tuesday night, Henry Aaron just had a good time.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds 6-4; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Houston Astros 5-3; the New York Mets edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1; the Philadelphia Phillies outscored the San Diego Padres 9-8, and the San Francisco Giants dropped the Montreal Expos 3-1.

Cubs 6, Reds 4

Veteran Rico Carty, acquired recently from the Texas Rangers, contributed three singles and twice drove in the go-ahead run in the Cubs' triumph.

His hits backed Ferguson Jenkins' first complete game since July 6.

Pirates 5, Astros 3

Rookie pitcher John Morlan, 2-1, scored the winning run on Richie Hebner's sacrifice fly in the sixth and defeated Houston's Don Wilson, 9-14.

Mets 2, Dodgers 1

John Milner scored one run and drove in the winner as the Mets topped Don Sutton and the Dodgers. Sutton, 15-8, had carried a three-hitter into the ninth, when Milner's single scored Wayne Garrett from third with the tie-breaker.

Giants 3, Expos 1

A seventh-inning error by Montreal shortstop Tim Foli let San Francisco's Tito Fuentes score from third and helped the Giants top the Expos.

The victory upped Ron Bryant's record to 19-8—tops in the NL in victories.

Phils 9, Padres 8

A bases-loaded double by Del Unser capped a four-run ninth inning and lifted the Phillies to their decision over the Padres. San Diego had held a 5-0 lead in third inning.

The Padres' Dave Roberts drove in three runs with two doubles and a single, but the Phils came back with the help of Greg Luzinski's 22nd home run of the season and Unser's hit.

Oakland Raiders Are Strong Again

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders' 1972 Super Bowl dreams ended with their elimination from the playoffs on one of the wierdest plays in National Football League history.

"It's out of my mind now," says Coach John Madden of the wild windup to last season. "Right after it happened, there was nothing else to think about, because there was nothing to prepare for." Madden's reference was to the play on which Pittsburgh's Franco Harris grabbed a pass that deflected off an Oakland safety and raced for a touchdown with just five seconds showing on the clock, giving the Steelers a stunning 13-7 victory over Oakland in the first round of the playoffs.

"Now, we're working on a new season. Anything I said about last year would sound like sour grapes."

The Raiders are favored again in the AFC West as they shoot for their sixth division crown in seven years.

An offense that gained 4,745 yards last year has all the key men back except for tight end Ray Chester, traded to Baltimore last month for former All-Pro defensive end Bubba Smith. Quarterbacks Daryle Lamonica and Ken Stabler combined for 2,522 passing yards in 1972 and Marv Hubbard's club record 1,100 yards led the ground attack.

Fred Biletnikoff, top pass catcher in the AFC last season, is the No. 1 receiver. Third-year pro Bob Moore inherits Chester's job.

Mike Siani or Cliff Branch, each in their second pro year, will start as the other wide receiver, and rookies Steve Sweeney and Joe Wylie seem sure to stick around at least as taxi squad members.

The defense that gave up 248 points last year—compared to 278 the season before—could show further improvement with the addition of Smith. The punting of No. 1 draft pick Ray Guy, who averaged 47 yards a boot at Southern Mississippi, is being counted on to back up other teams and make things easier for the Silver and Black defenders.

This could be the first time in four years that a rookie won't crack the Oakland starting defensive unit. Defensive backs Willie Brown and Nemiah Wilson and middle linebackers Phil Villapiano and Gerald Irons and linemen Art Thoms, Otis Sistrunk and Horance Jones are among the younger players who appear set at their spots for years to come.

Results Announced PCC Golf League

Team No. 10 scored 23½ points to win Tuesday's competition in the Men's Golf League at Pickaway Country Club.

Members of the winning team are: Bill Shanning, Bill Weldon, Wilbur Neff, Tim Timberlake, Wendell Christy, John Payne, Bob Downey, Dave Berkebile and Walter Hall.

Bruce Helwagen shot a 35 for low gross honors and Dave Berkebile's 29 won low net.

With one week to play, Team No. 8 is in first place with 135½ points, Team No. 9 is second with 126 and Team No. 10 is third with 118.

Dual Golf Clash Opens On Thursday

CARY, N.C. (AP) — The L&M Open begins Thursday, but Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and the other big guns don't get into action until Saturday in the unique format set up for pro golf's only doubleheader.

Nicklaus, Trevino and Weiskopf are among the eight exempt players who will compete in the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship to be played simultaneously and on the same course with the final two rounds of the L&M.

This is the way it works:

The L&M is a regular, 72-hole stroke play event offering a total purse of $100,000. It will be played Thursday through Sunday on the 6,786-yard, par-71 MacGregor Downs Golf and Country Club course.

Saturday and Sunday, on the same course, the $150,000 Match Play tournament will be held with 16 players competing for a $40,000 first prize.

Two rounds of Match Play will be held each day, sandwiched around the final two rounds of the stroke play tournament.

Eight players are exempt for the Match Play. They are Nicklaus, the defending champion and PGA titleholder; Johnny Miller, U.S. Open champion; and the next four men off the 1972 money-winning list. These are Trevino, George Archer, Jerry Heard, and Grier Jones.

Former Roundtowner In National Tourney

A former Circleville resident, 14-year-old Bruce Oliver, is playing in the National Pony League Tournament at Washington, Pa.

His team, Ft. Worth Tex., won the southern division title at Marietta, Ga., and has won its first two games in the national event.

Sunday they beat Yucatan 5-0. Oliver hit a homerun and a double against a pitcher who had hurled six no-hit games in seven previous wins.

Last night the team edged Euclid of Ohio, 6-5 and will play Thursday against Hawaii. Ft. Worth has lost only two games all year.

Oliver is the son of Mrs. Joseph Oliver. His grandmother is Mrs. Bernadette Bass, 527 S. Scioto St.

SUCH AN EFFORT—University of Minnesota's Dave Winfield tries 6 feet, 7 inches at Minneapolis, Minn. He's also its pitcher.

Grid Promotion Pushed By Brown

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Aside from winning, a key to success with a football program is its promotion—not only to the fans but to the players themselves.

Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals, holder of the best record in football history 323-118-16, hit on the idea at Washington High School in Massillon, Ohio, in 1932.

It's a matter of instilling pride in your players and in your town," said Brown. "You want to feel that everything connected with you is the best, first class. . your team, your uniforms, your clothes."

"It's important to the players to feel they are the best. This is one of the things I try to instill in them."

Brown won only two seasons with Cincinnati since the expansion franchise was created in 1968. But almost from the beginning, they've been all but sold out. This year will be the second straight sellout season in Riverfront Stadium, which holds about 60,000.

The Bengals are the second pro team founded by Brown. He went to Ohio State, Great Lakes Naval Base during World War II and then founded the Cleveland Browns—which were almost called the Cleveland Panthers.

"I was still in the service when my associates were setting up the team in Cleveland," Brown recalled of 1945. "I told them I wanted a name that I could nominate and they picked the Panthers.

"But someone came in and filed suit saying we were stealing the name of a semi-pro team so I told them—the associates—to hold a public contest.

"Most of the votes came in for my name so we called the team the Browns."

Brown was out of active coaching from 1963 to 1968 when he got the Cincinnati franchise in the former American Football League.

Eye Charges In Unfair Derby Win

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Criminal charges could grow out of the situation that led to disqualification of the winner of this year's All American Soap Box Derby, Summit County Prosecutor Stephan Gabalac said Tuesday.

James Gronen, 14, of Boulder, Colo., was disqualified as the winner of last Saturday's derby after it was found Monday that an electromagnetic system had been built into his racer to give him a boost at the starting line. Derby rules require that the start be unassisted.

Gabalac said charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor or larceny by trick could be filed against anyone who might have helped Gronen build his racer.

The boy would have received a $7,500 scholarship and a trophy if his victory had stood.

The runnerup, Bret Yarborough, 11, of Elk Grove, Calif., was declared the winner after the Colorado boy was disqualified.

"I would like to study exactly how the law is worded and find out who put the car together," Gabalac said. "We should look into it just to preserve the amateur nature of it."

Derby rules require participants to assemble the racers themselves, although they may consult outside help.

Rollin Roman Winner Of River Downs Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Barb's Herman, carrying 116 pounds, and What's A.B., 113, are favored today in the $2,200, 5½ furlong featured ninth race at River Downs.

Rollin Roman won the feature Tuesday and paid $6.40, $3.60 and $2.60. Bucks Pal placed, $7.60 and $4, and Susan S. finished third, $3.

Steamboat Pete and Sweet Loom, 4-9, paid $37.40 in the daily double. The crowd of 3,291 bet $283,431.

Ms. Goose Liberates Stereotypes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Georgie Porgie and Little Miss Muffet have been liberated from the nursery and thrust into the middle of the battle of the sexes by a California housewife.

Tamar Hoffs has written and published a book called, "Ms. Goose: A Lib-retta." It is a collection of updated nursery rhymes which poke fun at the sexual stereotypes.

For example, her version of the verse about the little girl with a curl:

"There was a little goal
That changed the female role,
And made men simply torrid:
It was to make good, very, very good
By using the brains in her forehead!"

Mrs. Hoffs, an artist, writer and mother of three, was having difficulty marketing a screenplay she had written and she attributed the problems to sexism. She set up her own publishing firm in her garage and vented her anger and frustration at being stereotyped.

Mrs. Hoff's philosophy is illustrated in her version of "See Saw Margery Daw":

"Hee Haw Margery's Law,
To your own self be master,
You shall have for a penny a day
Birth control, instead of disaster!"

Mrs. Hoffs, who was graduated from the University of Chicago at 18, credits her mother, "a very liberated lady," for a new view of Humpty Dumpty.

"When I was a child and would break an egg," Mrs. Hoffs said, "my mother would say, 'It's not broken; it's a scrambled egg' and put it in the refrigerator for the next day's breakfast. That's really a woman's wisdom. Only a man would consider the egg broken and lost."

The "Ms. Goose" version:

"Mumty's not so Dumbty."

"When the Queen rode past the wall
From which Humpty had made his fall,
She scooped him into a frying pan
And scrambled him back together again."

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime finds an odd influence in effect. You need to be careful not to become involved in a shady situation without realizing it. The evening finds you with the energy and good judgment to put a new project into action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A fine day for being observant but not for forcing your ideas on others. Once your outside duties are well handled, do some entertaining at home. Invite charming people and have fun.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Daytime can be confining with important duties you have to handle but later you can air your views to the right people. Engage in only those recreations you like in the evening. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do whatever will add to your vitality during day hours. In the evening go out socially and make a good impression on others. Talk with a trusted adviser on ways to increase income.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) First handle those personal affairs that are important to your well-being and then go to the amusements that you like. A new plan needs more study if you want it to succeed.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Steer clear of one who gossips during day hours. Engage in activities of a constructive nature. Personal aims can be achieved later in the day. Come to a better understanding with loved one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Not a good day for adding to public prestige, so keep rooted to routines and get them out of the way. Know what your personal goals are and then be positive in action. Relax at home tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is wise to obtain the data you need early in the morning so that you will be prepared when dealing with a higher-up later in the day. Evening is fine for enjoying favorite amusement.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Busying yourself with the handling of monetary affairs in the morning is wise and then you can meet with allies and make better plans for the future. Intuition is excellent tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Being more understanding of the ideas of an associate and cooperating more with this person brings about greater success now. A civic matter should be handled before attending the social.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to be more determined and take on regular duties early so that you have free time for recreation later in the day. Take time for health treatments. Be more pleasing to kin.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are now able to delve right into that work you have been putting off for a long time. Put those creative ideas to work and impress others. Try to please good pals in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you keep silent at home, those tensions will soon be removed and then you can accomplish a grea deal in the business world. Evening is ideal for the social side of life. Be happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who may have a late start in life because of a quirk in the nature that requires careful study and discipline. Lost time will then be easily make up once the mind is in perfect control. Your progeny would do very well in the fields of banking and property management.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The audience, maybe 300 or so hardy souls, began filling the seats of CBS' Studio 41 here while Jose Perez was telling James Coco he was sorry he quit and that he'd like his old job back.

"Okay, thank you very much. That ends the rehearsal," said the voice on the studio loudspeaker. Cameramen relaxed, the cast took a break and a prop man made a final inspection tour of the set.

All were working on the second episode of "Calucci's Dept.," a new half-hour series about the inhabitants of a state unemployment office run by Joseph Calucci (Coco).

The series, which begins Sept. 14 on CBS-TV, is good for 13 episodes, according to its executive producer, Bob Precht. If it clicks with viewers, more episodes probably will be ordered.

The concern of the moment was to have good, crisp performances in the day's effort. It, like all 13 episodes, would be taped twice on the same day and within the space of a few hours.

"The first show is essentially a dress rehearsal, although we always tape it and may edit parts of it into the final show we're doing later today," said Precht, a lean, athletic-looking man.

The series' creators, Renee Taylor and Joe Bologna, came out to warm up the audience with a few quips, an explanation of what the show was about and to introduce the regulars on it.

The regulars and extras—16 in all—began taking their places for the opening scene. The set was in two sections, the main office and Calucci's office. Both looked authentic— old, musty and miserable.

"Action—business," the floor manager intoned. The thespians, motionless until that order, immediately came to life and created a remarkably real illusion of the morning rush for unemployment benefits.

The plot centered on a young Puerto Rican employe, played by Perez, who abruptly goes nuts during a bureacratic squabble over paper-shuffling. He screams, tosses papers in the air and quits.

"How can you quit?" Coco subsequently asks him. "You're only 22 years away from your pensions."

The show's six scenes were shot in sequence, with delays of one to five minutes between segments to allow for set changes—only two were needed—and to ready cast and cameras for the next scene.

During the breaks, Bologna came out to chat with the audience. One young man asked if the unemployment office in the show was modelled on a real one.

"We've sort of modelled it after the one at 23rd Street and Sixth Avenue," Bologna cheerfully explained. "That's MY office."

The show went smoothly. No retakes were needed, no lines were blown and the laughter was frequent and loud. And few in the audience balked when the overhead "Applause" sign blinked on.

It had the earmarks of a winning series. But the cast won't know until November—when networks usually renew or cancel—if their unemployment office will remain make-believe or become the real, wretched McCoy.

Violence Center To Close Doors

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — "Public interest over group violence has diminished," the director of The Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence says in explaining the planned shutdown of the center.

"I think it is fairly safe to say it is now an end of an era," said John P. Spiegal, the center's director. "The violence of the '60s may very well have begun with the assassination of John Kennedy and ended with the Kent State killings."

Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 and four Kent State students were killed during an antiwar demonstration in 1970.

The center at Brandeis University, set up to study such incidents of public violence, is phasing out its operations and will close at the end of the year.

"Public interest over group violence has diminished since 1971, and the interests of our staff, including myself, have shifted to the non-violent acts of social conflict," Spiegal said in an interview.

"Acts of group violence don't spread and become mass phenomenon as they did in the 1960s. They remain localized and contained, and in that sense we're living in different times."

Spiegal said one reason for this containment is that authorities have become more sophisticated in dealing with mass confrontations.

"Kent State was the last straw as far as the public was concerned in the handling of protestors by strong arm methods. It came at the end of an era as a symbol that it need not have happened because we now know better how to handle these things," he said.

"Today, authorities are more likely to compromise when dealing with a group of protestors rather than turning the police loose. In fact, police don't want to be called to the scene of a demonstration unless it's a last resort."

He also cited the termination of the Vietnam war and the presence of more solidly organized protest groups.

"The more organized a protest group, the less likely it is to become involved in spontaneous violence. Protest leaders want to obtain their goals with as little violence as possible," he said.

The research center, the only one of its kind in the country, was organized in 1966 following an outbreak of racial disturbances in the nation's cities. A report issued by the center in 1971 identified the underlying causes of these racial disturbances as being social inequalities and injustices.

Wheat Farmers Gain Prosperity

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — A record Kansas wheat crop coupled with all-time high wheat prices have combined to bring unexpected prosperity to wheat farmers.

Sumner County, one of the largest producers of hard winter wheat in the nation, harvested 15.56 million bushels this year for a record average yield of 40 bushels per acre.

After years of selling their wheat for around $1.50 a bushel, or less, the county's farmers are realizing triple that amount. At one point earlier this month, wheat prices passed the $5 a bushel mark.

One small farmer, Elmer Headley, said he had paid all his bills after harvest for the first time in 23 years, and still has a third of his wheat left unsold. Others report they made more money on the first half of their crop this year than they did all last year.

Farmers all over Sumner County are buying expensive equipment, paying off loans and building cash reserves for the bad wheat year they know will come somewhere down the line.

As John Trower put it, the wheat has allowed us to "kind of get caught up." Trower used payments for half his 1973 crop to pay off loans on land and is holding the rest until next year.

Elevator operators estimated that a fourth of the wheat harvested here remains to be sold as farmers wait, hoping for even higher wheat prices.

Hubert Sawyer, vice president of the First National Bank, said many farmers had sold just enough wheat to pay bank notes and were gambling the rest on the wheat market. Sawyer said a tremendous amount of wheat had been sold on contract for Jan. 1, 1974, and then "there's going to be a ton of money in this area compared to last year."

"I feel they're in a heck of a good position right now," Sawyer said.

Sumner County had 387,000 acres seeded in wheat this year, a 10 per cent increase over 1972.

Merle Frame, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service agent, said he estimates another 10 to 15 per cent increase in acreage because of the lifting of the government allotment limitations.

Agreement Close With State Unions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Agreement is close between the state and four state-employe unions after pre-bargaining talks, according to state Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley.

Richley said transportation officials met last week with representatives of the four labor groups whose contracts expire Sept. 15.

A second session to wrap up discussion of changes legislated in negotiating procedures is scheduled for Aug. 28, Richley said. Contract talks with the individual unions will begin after that, he said.

The four unions are the Joint Organizing Council of Operating Engineers and Laborers Unions AFL-CIO, the Ohio Civil Serivce Employes Association, the Ohio State Government Employes Council 4455-CWA, AFL-CIO and the Ohio State Public Employes Local 796—International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"From the last meeting, I'd say agreement on major issues is pretty close," Richley said.

Those issues include definition of the bargaining unit, dual union memberships, exclusion of managers from the unions and the problem of membership changes.

Bargaining after the Aug. 28 meeting will cover working conditions and disciplinary and grievance procedures. Wages, retirement benefits, sick leave and vacation allowances are set by law, Richley said.

About three-quarters of the state's 10,000 highway workers, engineering technicians, clerks and secretaries are affiliated with the unions.

Richley said the state and the unions will discuss a three-year contract this time. In the past, contracts have been for two years.

Charity Funds Misspent?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Post & Times Star pledged Tuesday to make good any funds found missing from the March of Dimes Christmas fund, annually sponsored by the newspaper and Cincinnati and suburban fire departments.

Walter Friedenberg, editor, made the pledge Tuesday in a front page story.

Police Chief Carl Goodin said his department has been investigating the charity and reports that up to $70,000 had allegedly been misspent.

Friedenberg said Scripps-Howard Co. learned that the alleged mishandling occurred between Christmas 1972 and this past July. He said the amount misspent could run "six figures."

He said the alleged misuse of funds apparently involved diverting charitable money through the purchase of merchandise coupons intended for needy families.

Sample Of Moon Rock To Be At State Fair

Air Force officials are scheduled to carry the rock today from the Neil Armstrong Museum at Wapakoneta to the fair in Columbus.

The sample will be displayed at the state Department of Transportation exhibit at the fair, which begins Thursday.

More Telephone Cable Vandalism

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Vandals continue to attack cables as the General Telephone Co. and striking Communications Workers of America prepare to resume contract talks Thursday.

A company spokesman said 16 pickets prevented workers from reporting to the firm's Circleville offices Tuesday.

The spokesman said 21 cables were sliced Monday night, cutting off customers on the west side of Portsmouth from long-distance service.

The company claimed more than $700,000 in damage by vandals since 2,800 employes walked off the job July 16.

Wages are reported to be the central issue hampering the talks.

One elementary bus route, serving students in the areas of Kingston Pike and Northwood Park, was omitted from the listing of bus schedules for Circleville City Schools yesterday.

Also, Superintendent Fritz F. Jacobs notes, the tardy bell for high school students is at 8:17 a.m. The time given yesterday is when students will be permitted to enter the high school building.

The additional bus route, for Bus No. 9 driven by Joanne Johnson, is:

Group Protests River Changes

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Environmentalists carrying signs protesting modification of the Little Auglaize River met state conservation officials touring the controversial project Tuesday.

About 100 officials inspected portions of the project after a public debate.

Wildlife advocates claim cleaning stream beds and clearing overhanging foliage kills game fishes and scares away wildlife.

Farmers and others favor such modifications of the northwestern Ohio river because they claim it reduces flooding along stream banks.
